Actress Says She Proved To Be Stupid

Judy Holliday Has Own Idea of Mixing With Reds; She Hired Some Investigators

Four Take Oath

Comedian, Singer, Actor Join Miss Holliday in Statements

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP) — Stage and screen star Judy Holliday told Senate investigators that in getting mixed up with various Communist fronts she was irresponsible and more than slightly stupid.

When she had her eyes opened to what was going on, she said, she herself hired people to investigate her.

"I wanted to know what I had done," said the actress who won the Motion Picture Academy Award in 1951 for her portrayal of a dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday."

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee disclosed today that, at closed-door sessions last spring, it had questioned Miss Holliday, comedian Sam Levenson, actor Philip Loeb and singer Burl Ives.

The testimony of all four was made public. It showed that they all were asked about Communist-front organizations or activities with which their names have been linked. They swore they had never knowingly taken part in any Communist movement.

Appear Before Group

Levenson and Ives appeared before the subcommittee at their own request.

The Senate group has been probing for any subversive infiltration of the radio, television and entertainment industries.

Today's second volume of testimony, with still more to come, was released by the subcommittee without comment.

In an accompanying statement, however, Chairman McCarran (D.-Nev.) said that "communism fastens itself like a leech" on the careers of prominent figures in the entertainment world.

He remarked on what he called "the striking number of Communist-controlled organizations and Communist-sponsored activities in which some of the witnesses have involved themselves."

"We do not want to accuse anyone of 'guilt by association'," McCarran said, "but it is a dangerous type of thinking that leads people into such involvements.

"It is not the sort of thinking that should be permitted to express itself freely in such important media as radio, television and other types of entertainment directed at the minds of our people."

Questioned Two Hours

Miss Holliday was questioned for two hours and 40 minutes at a secret hearing here last March 26. She said she had let her name be used by Communist-front or-

Stevenson Aides Ignore Demand He Withdraw From Campaign

Stevenson Refuses To Reveal Names Of 'Kitty' Donors

Democrat Says Action Would Be Breach of Good Faith on His Part

Baltimore, Sept. 24 (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said today he will not reveal the names of those who contributed to or received money from a special cash fund he set up to supplement the pay of some Illinois state officials.

"There is no point in revealing any names," the Democratic presidential nominee said.

"It would be publicity they do not deserve and a breach of good faith on my part, too."

Sen. Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, and several other Republicans have demanded Stevenson reveal details of the fund. Nixon talked about it in his report to the nation last night on his own $18,000 fund for political expenses.

The governor discussed his fund at a breakfast of 550 Volunteers for Stevenson which wound up a week's campaigning in the east.

Augments Their Pay

He said he chose the method of raising the income of "key state employes" because the positions were filled by men who not only took the jobs at less money than they had been receiving, "but gave up security for the hazards of government."

He said one official had at least three times turned down offers from private enterprises at more than three times his public salary.

"This loyalty and devotion is very hard to attract, and once attracted it is very hard to treat lightly," Stevenson said.

"The Illinois governor said he hoped "this discussion will focus attention on this problem on all levels of government."

He maintained adequate compensation for public officials is "one of the most pressing needs for good government."

He said he knew of "no method except to pay higher salaries."

Says Not Satisfactory

The governor also said uniform salary scales adopted by most states for their employes are not as "satisfactory or practical as flexible scales paid by private business.

The governor explained that after his inauguration in 1948 he had found it "difficult getting men for public service with real competence, not just the garden variety, to take key positions."

Some that he did take on, he said, suffered financial losses. Stevenson said he first considered a plan whereby public spirited citizens would make gifts to the state itself or a foundation established for the state.

This was rejected as impractical.

Christmas 'Gifts'

Then he hit on the idea of "gifts, usually around Christmas time to a small number of key

Mitchell Calls It Ridiculous When Brooks Makes His Call for Democrat to Quit Race Over Private Fund to Pay State Wages

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—Aides to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson appeared today to have ignored a demand that the governor withdraw from the presidential campaign in view of disclosure of a private cash fund he promoted to help pay some state salaries.

C. Wayland Brooks, Illinois Republican national committeeman and former U. S. senator, made the demand yesterday in a letter to Stephen Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

"I think that's ridiculous," was Mitchell's reply to newsmen in Washington who asked him if he would demand that Stevenson retire as the party's presidential candidate. He said he was not going to talk about the fund because Stevenson had made a statement about it.

Mitchell has demanded that Sen. Richard Nixon of California resign as Republican vice presidential candidate because of the $18,235 contributed by a group of California business men to supplement his government income and expense funds.

Augmented State Pay

Stevenson has acknowledged he collected a fund to augment state salaries of some of his appointive officers. However, he said, there was nothing secretive or improper about the fund.

In Baltimore, where Stevenson made a major address last night, newsmen asked his press secretary, William Flanagan, about the demand by Brooks.

"We wouldn't dignify Curley Brooks with an answer," was Flanagan's reply.

As Brooks disclosed his demand, an Illinois Republican party official accused Stevenson and a state department head of payroll padding in the state welfare department.

Brooks, long prominent in Republican party affairs and now a Chicago attorney, also called for

Telegrams Swamp GOP Quarters, Vindicate Nixon

Majority of Committeemen Favor Keeping Him on National Ticket With General

(By The Associated Press)

Republican National Campaign headquarters in Washington today was hip-deep in still uncounted thousands of telegrams from every corner of America which a spokesman said overwhelmingly vindicated Sen. Richard Nixon.

The GOP vice-presidential nominee's nationwide radio-TV appeal that people let party headquarters know how they felt about his explanation of an $18,000 political fund drew what some called an unprecedented response.

GOP national committeemen who could be reached for comment were almost unanimously in favor of retaining Nixon on the ticket as the vice-presidential nominee.

There was no immediate comment from either the White House or the Democratic National Committee.

Officers Call Emergency Crews

Shortly after Nixon told a multi-million American radio-TV audience last night that he was innocent of wrong-doing and felt he should stay on the ticket as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's running mate, Western Union officers were swamped and many were forced to call in emergency crews.

Newspapers over the country were deluged with requests for the address of the GOP National Headquarters — something Nixon forgot to mention.

Many people telephoned Washington rather than send telegrams, saying Western Union was too swamped to take their messages. Others wired Nixon or Eisenhower direct.

In New York, Western Union reported that its facilities were "jammed to absolute capacity" during the night.

No immediate count of the messages was available.

Some Go to Ike

Although Nixon asked that messages be sent to the Republican National Committee in Washington, a number were addressed to Eisenhower's temporary headquarters in New York.

A spokesman at the headquarters said today hundreds of telegrams and telephone calls were received there and that they were "still coming in."

Many wanted to contribute money to a "Nixon fund." Some women were crying as they called for the GOP address. Others said he ought to be running for president.

In political circles reaction followed party lines, on the whole:

Eisenhower indicated to a Cleveland audience, which earlier had heard Nixon's dramatic plea, that he favored keeping his young running mate.

Withholds Comment

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, who earlier had urged the American public to withhold criticizing Nixon until the facts were known, withheld his own comment in Baltimore last night.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, said Nixon did not "answer the questions that people want to know." No matter what happens, he said, the party has been hurt: "If Nixon resigns

Republican Head Speaks for Self at Cleveland; Nixon to Meet Ike at Wheeling Tonight

Summerfield Says He Feels Democrats Now Regret Smear

Cleveland, Sept. 24 (AP)—GOP National Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said today the Nixon case had "backfired" on the Democrats and called the expense fund furore "the turning point of the campaign."

Speaking for himself, Summerfield said he was certain Sen. Richard M. Nixon would be kept on the GOP ticket as vice presidential candidate.

But he indicated the final decision would be made by the presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the members of the GOP national committee, which Summerfield heads.

Eisenhower, he said, will meet with Nixon at Wheeling, W. Va., at 9:30 p. m. (EDT) tonight.

Summerfield made these statements at a news conference here. Eisenhower was campaigning in Cleveland last night and hinted strongly after Nixon's speech that he approved keeping Nixon on the ticket.

Nixon—who speaks today at Missoula, Mont.—will leave for Wheeling by plane at 10 a. m. (MST), Summerfield said.

Says Attack Backfires

"The smear attack on Senator Nixon has backfired," said Summerfield. "This is the turning point of the 1952 campaign."

Summerfield said he did not know whether he could attend tonight's conference. By his conversation, he indicated that that conference would settle the matter.

The problem: Should Nixon be permitted to stay as the party's vice presidential candidate in view of a disclosure that he accepted an $18,235 expense fund as a California senator?

Asks Immediate Opinions

The GOP National Committee chairman said he had asked the Republican National Committee members for their opinions in the case. He said he sent this telegram to all members of that committee:

"Knowing that you heard Senator Nixon's broadcast last night and his request that the Republican National Committee consider the future status of his candidacy, will you please wire me your personal decision immediately (to the GOP National Campaign Headquarters in Washington) marking your telegram 'urgent' so that it can penetrate the deluge of messages now being wired to our national headquarters."

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle testified today that former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath once told him, "I know enough about the White House to blow it so high the force of gravity would never bring it back to earth."

Caudle also said McGrath, his old boss in the Justice Department, reported Caudle lost his job because of "'a White House clique."

Rail Officials, Unionists Meet in Cleveland About Dispute

Cleveland, Sept. 24 (AP) — New York Central Railroad officials and leaders of three rail brotherhoods came here today to discuss a two-year dispute which was believed to have been settled.

Those to attend the session are Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., chairman of the National Railway Mediation Board; L. W. Horning, NYC vice president, and top officials of the Firemen and Enginemen, Locomotive Engineers and Conductor's Brotherhoods.

A union source here confirmed a New York report that the dispute announced as settled last Friday had flared up again.

The source, who declined use of his name, said a number of individual grievances for back pay claims had been left to local settlement. However, he said, agreement on these was not reached and today's meeting was called "for clarification."

U. S. Probers Turn To College Sources

Investigators Drop City Schools—10 Call Check an Attack

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—U. S. Senate investigators of Communist influences on education turn their attention today from the New York city school system to colleges in the Metropolitan area.

After an hour of further public hearings, a Senate subcommittee on internal security will go into closed session to examine instructors in the city's four municipal colleges; in Columbia, New York and Long Island Universities and in other local institutions.

Officers of the New York Teachers Union (IND) will be questioned at the public session before the closed hearing and at another open meeting afterwards. The college instructors are expected to testify at public sessions tomorrow.

Dr. Bella V. Dodd, who was expelled from the Communist party in 1949, testified before the subcommittee two weeks ago that three New York universities and four municipal colleges were among several leading institutions which had Communist cells on their campuses. The four municipal colleges are City, Hunter, Queens and Brooklyn.

Dodd Testimony Taken

Dr. Dodd, a former high Communist party official, testified that the Teachers Union was Communist controlled.

Ten officers and former officers of the Teachers Union testified at yesterday's public hearing. Eight of them refused to say whether they were Communist party members, while the other two swore they were not and never had been party members.

But all 10 joined in denouncing the investigation as an attack upon the concept of the open mind in education.

Charles J. Hendley, former president of the union and once a teacher, was one of the eight who refused to say whether he was a

Formal retirement from a position within the New York State Department of Education marks the start of a new venture for Dr. Ruth Andrus, of Saugerties.

Dr. Andrus, who in the Spring ended a long service in the New York State Department of Education as chief of the Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education, is the new director of the Cold Spring Project, which will open October 1 high in the hills above the Hudson.

The project, a unique experiment in education in which all the students will be more than 60 years of age, is located on a 60-acre campus donated to the project by the Walt Foundation, Inc., and adjoins Fahnestock Park near the Taconic Parkway.

The Walt Foundation, it was explained by a public relations representative, is a group formed to further the aims and ideals of the American poet, Walt Whitman.

Republican Women to Begin Various Services for Voters

It was announced today by Miss Alice M. Scardefield, president, Ulster County Women's Republican Club, that the organization will open its information and service headquarters on Thursday in the Beck building, 660 Broadway, near O'Neil street.

Transportation and baby sitters will be made available to voters who, otherwise, would be unable to register and vote in the forthcoming national elections.

The schedule of office hours announced by Miss Scardefield follows:

Thursday through Saturday, this week; Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 1, 2, 3, and 4; and the following week also Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 8, 9, 10 and 11, to precede and include registration days.

Also, Friday, Oct. 31; Saturday, Nov. 1, and Monday, Nov. 3, preceding election.

Office hours are 11 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

The purpose of the office will be to render service to the public by furnishing pertinent information about the candidates, registration, election and voting.

The baby sitting and transportation services to be furnished on registration and election days, may be had by telephoning the headquarters, 6382.

Pamphlets, posters, and candidate emblems are available for distribution at the headquarters.

Arrangements for opening and maintaining the UC Women's Republican Club headquarters have been made by Mrs. Charles Vogt, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Schwenk, Mrs. Leslie Hotaling, Mrs. Harry Walker and Mrs. H. M. Cameron.

Big Hassle Occurs At Jersey Drive-In

Mob Swarms In Upon S-3 Theatre Like Locusts at $10 per Car

Rutherford, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP) —The Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott slugfest last night was a tea and crumpets waltz compared to goings on at a drive-in- movie showing the fight.

A rampaging mob estimated between 20,000 and 30,000 descended on the Route S-3 drive-in like a swarm of locusts and, police said:

Double and triple parked on and off Routes S-3 and 17, two main highways, and surrounding streets; tied up traffic for hours for miles around; brawled among themselves; built bonfires to keep warm; swigged beer and played poker and practically wrecked the place.

The theatre charged a flat rate of $10 per car with no limit on the number of persons to a car.

Thousands in Line

Hours before the fight hit the screen via a television hookup from Philadelphia, thousands of cars were lined up for admission. A midget auto strained under the weight of a dozen people. Three men crowded into the trunk of another car, already bulging at the seams.

Seymour Weiss, theatre manager, estimated 20,000 persons were inside the lot alone. A good house usually, he said, numbered 3,500.

All Around Barricades

Theatre employes tried to block off the entrance when the place filled up but drivers piloted their jam-packed cars right around the barricades and stopped when they couldn't go any further.

Before the fight went on, a voice over a public address system announced:

"Rocky Marciano is the new champ of the world."

That did it. Many in the crowd thought the fight was over and started yelling for their money back.

The furore subsided a few minutes later. The management explained it was only testing the circuit.

Women Praised

Governor Dewey Applauds Work of Educating About Voting

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Gov. Dewey said today that groups like the Business and Professional Women's Clubs had done "valiant service" in helping to educate women on the need to vote.

Dewey said in a statement that 48.8 per cent of America's voting public did not go to the polls in the last election. He added:

"There is no way of knowing how women affected this figure, but it is fair to say that if there is a marked rise of conscientious registration in October and voting in November, the women will have made an effective contribution."

The governor noted that the clubs in New York state would celebrate Sept. 28-Oct. 4 as "National Business Women's Week."

Ten officers and former officers of the Teachers Union testified at yesterday's public hearing. Eight of them refused to say whether they were Communist party members, while the other two swore they were not and never had been party members.

But all 10 joined in denouncing the investigation as an attack upon the concept of the open mind in education.

Charles J. Hendley, former president of the union and once a teacher, was one of the eight who refused to say whether he was a

RUTH ANDRUS

Formal retirement from a position within the New York State Department of Education marks the start of a new venture for Dr. Ruth Andrus, of Saugerties.

Dr. Andrus, who in the Spring ended a long service in the New York State Department of Education as chief of the Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education, is the new director of the Cold Spring Project, which will open October 1 high in the hills above the Hudson.

The project, a unique experiment in education in which all the students will be more than 60 years of age, is located on a 60-acre campus donated to the project by the Walt Foundation, Inc., and adjoins Fahnestock Park near the Taconic Parkway.

The Walt Foundation, it was explained by a public relations representative, is a group formed to further the aims and ideals of the American poet, Walt Whitman.

Republican Women to Begin Various Services for Voters

It was announced today by Miss Alice M. Scardefield, president, Ulster County Women's Republican Club, that the organization will open its information and service headquarters on Thursday in the Beck building, 660 Broadway, near O'Neil street.

Transportation and baby sitters will be made available to voters who, otherwise, would be unable to register and vote in the forthcoming national elections.

The schedule of office hours announced by Miss Scardefield follows:

Thursday through Saturday, this week; Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 1, 2, 3, and 4; and the following week also Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 8, 9, 10 and 11, to precede and include registration days.

Also, Friday, Oct. 31; Saturday, Nov. 1, and Monday, Nov. 3, preceding election.

Office hours are 11 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

The purpose of the office will be to render service to the public by furnishing pertinent information about the candidates, registration, election and voting.

The baby sitting and transportation services to be furnished on registration and election days, may be had by telephoning the headquarters, 6382.

Pamphlets, posters, and candidate emblems are available for distribution at the headquarters.

Arrangements for opening and maintaining the UC Women's Republican Club headquarters have been made by Mrs. Charles Vogt, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Schwenk, Mrs. Leslie Hotaling, Mrs. Harry Walker and Mrs. H. M. Cameron.

Big Hassle Occurs At Jersey Drive-In

Mob Swarms In Upon S-3 Theatre Like Locusts at $10 per Car

Rutherford, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP) —The Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott slugfest last night was a tea and crumpets waltz compared to goings on at a drive-in movie showing the fight.

A rampaging mob estimated between 20,000 and 30,000 descended on the Route S-3 drive-in like a swarm of locusts and, police said:

Double and triple parked on and off Routes S-3 and 17, two main highways, and surrounding streets; tied up traffic for hours for miles around; brawled among themselves; built bonfires to keep warm; swigged beer and played poker and practically wrecked the place.

The theatre charged a flat rate of $10 per car with no limit on the number of persons to a car.

Thousands in Line

Hours before the fight hit the screen via a television hookup from Philadelphia, thousands of cars were lined up for admission. A midget auto strained under the weight of a dozen people. Three men crowded into the trunk of another car, already bulging at the seams.

Seymour Weiss, theatre manager, estimated 20,000 persons were inside the lot alone. A good house usually, he said, numbered 3,500.

All Around Barricades

Theatre employes tried to block off the entrance when the place filled up but drivers piloted their jam-packed cars right around the barricades and stopped when they couldn't go any further.

Before the fight went on, a voice over a public address system announced:

"Rocky Marciano is the new champ of the world."

That did it. Many in the crowd thought the fight was over and started yelling for their money back.

The furore subsided a few minutes later. The management explained it was only testing the circuit.

Women Praised

Governor Dewey Applauds Work of Educating About Voting

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Gov. Dewey said today that groups like the Business and Professional Women's Clubs had done "valiant service" in helping to educate women on the need to vote.

Dewey said in a statement that 48.8 per cent of America's voting public did not go to the polls in the last election. He added:

"There is no way of knowing how women affected this figure, but it is fair to say that if there is a marked rise of conscientious registration in October and voting in November, the women will have made an effective contribution."

The governor noted that the clubs in New York state would celebrate Sept. 28-Oct. 4 as "National Business Women's Week."

TRAFFIC TOLL IS YOUR HEARTACHE

How many people in your family, four? Then two of you are going to be injured in traffic accidents before you die. Shocking, isn't it, when you look at it that way? And yet statistically it is a fair assumption.

The National Safety Council asserts that unless an effective way is found to curb traffic accidents, which killed 37,300 persons and injured another 1,300,000 last year, one out of every two persons living today will be injured in traffic before he dies.

Who will it be in your family, Sister, Junior, Mother or Dad?

And don't just ask yourself that grim question. What can you do to prevent it?

Safety engineers say that miracles could be accomplished in reducing the traffic toll if drivers would obey a few simple rules:

Drive courteously—show concern for the other fellow instead of competing with him for speed, space and hospital room.

Drive "defensively"—that means that you always look ahead for road problems and traffic signals and watch what other drivers are doing instead of bulling ahead on your own.

Drive legally—obey the limitations which competent highway engineers have tried to put on your driving to save your life and the lives of other drivers.

You can't reform ALL drivers overnight in accordance with these suggestions. But you CAN start with yourself—if you don't relish the picture of your dear ones or yourself maimed in traffic.

HIGH HOLIDAYS

It is well in this land of many religions for members of one faith to be aware of the holidays and customs of those of other beliefs. This year two of the most important holidays on Jewish calendar occur within eight days of one another. Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, was celebrated on September 21 and 22. Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement will be celebrated on September 29.

For the Jews Rosh Hashanah marked the beginning of the year 5713 and although American Jews live by the same calendars as their Christian neighbors the holiday is significant to them. It is a reminder of their ties with ancient beliefs that have survived persecution and time.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is one of the most solemn days observed by Jews. It begins on the eve of the holiday with the chanting of the traditional and moving Kol Nidre. The day itself is devoted to fasting, prayer and meditation.

Many of the spiritual truths which nourish Christianity have their roots in the teachings of the Hebrew prophets and scholars. On their high holy days we wish our Jewish friends the full enjoyment of their religious duties and the satisfaction that comes to good men who practice their faith whatever form it takes.

USE OF GUIDED MISSILES

News that the Navy has used guided missiles in the Korean war brings up another new question in that strange and little-understood conflict.

Will use of the powerful, pilotless weapons mean the beginning of a new and increasingly deadly phase of the war? It's not known generally how far the Russians have developed this type of weapon, but if they have it there is no reason to think they won't now use it.

And once the bars are down, where do things go from there? Our first guided missile was a clumsy affair compared to the potential of this type of weapon, compared even to the type used by the Germans in World War II. But once it becomes an acceptable thing in Korea, improved versions certainly won't be long in coming.

Certainly, in an all-out war, it's to be expected that all of the best and latest in military equipment will be used. But Korea is not an all-out war. It is very definitely and deliberately a limited war.

How then does the use of guided missiles fit in with this confined conflict? If it means an intensification, or even possibly an enlargement, of the war, that is a matter of concern to the American people.

There is nothing like a nice walk up and down hills in the hot sun carrying a golf bag for the man who needs a bit of rest.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DANGER OF IGNORANCE

I get it in my fan mail but it is particularly noticeable in question time after lectures and speeches—a satisfaction with ignorance, even a pleasure, a delight with an avoidance of knowledge and facts and a repetition of unprovable prejudices.

In the realm of public questions, I often find that our people are ignorant of our form of government. The Presidential campaign, each four years, is ballyhooed into such a circus as Mussolini would have enjoyed had he not feared defeat. The result is that far too many of our people believe that we have a Presidential form of government when actually the Constitution reduces the authority of the President and elevates the power of Congress. Mr. Truman has made that mistake since he was elected to his second term and it took a Supreme Court decision to put him in his place.

Similarly, far too many of our people are ignorant of the history of our country and the traditions of our people. They fail to grasp that the essence of our civilization is the liberty of the individual human being, as a gift from God, as clearly defined in the Declaration of Independence.

The abolition of poverty may be a virtuous ideal but its accomplishment must not, in our tradition, involve the abolition of liberty. When human beings become dependent upon the political power of the state for their livelihood, the independence of person, the dignity of person, must disappear. It is the identification of economic survival with police power that destroys the right of the individual to liberty.

This spectacle we have now witnessed in some 15 or 16 countries. The abolition of poverty is the ideal of Marxism but the Communists have reinstituted slavery as a human institution. Whereas in our civilization, the concept has been that for every man there must be equality of opportunity to achieve what his own abilities, application, fortitude and labor will produce, in the Marxian concept of a governmentally planned society, every person must be reduced to the position of a mechanical creature subject to the necessities of those who control the state.

Hard times, such as our recent depression which lasted from 1929 to 1941, will produce alterations in the thinking of a people, but the danger is that generations will arise who are completely cut loose from the traditions of a civilization. The shocking condition in our land is that the older people, those who knew America before Roosevelt, should have forgotten what they once believed, that freedom for the individual, political and economic, built this great society. The private ownership of property and the recognition of superior accomplishments by individuals is the essence of a free society.

In the 1930's, every country developed a Stalinesque type, but each was different. Meh's minds turned from the Natural Law to the Golden Calf. When the law prevails, men are governed by absolutes, by the restraints that are imposed by a morality revealed by God to man. Even among peoples who are outside the Judaic-Christian-Moslem civilizations, these moral restraints appear in myriad forms but always based upon the same concept, namely, that of a power outside ourselves that makes for righteousness, as Matthew Arnold once put it.

However, in the 1930's, the trend seemed universal to turn from the law of life to the great man, the inspired, superior individual who became infinitely wise and competent. Nietzsche's Uebermensch—the Superman—became an adored creature, almost worshipped for his greatness and goodness. Of such, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and Roosevelt were the best known. But smaller gods also appeared. It is to be said for Great Britain and France that they passed through this period without becoming subject to this trend, although De Gaulle could have been such a figure and Aneurin Bevan obviously aspires to this type of glorification.

The British and the French avoided the trend because they had kept alive among their peoples the fundamental traditions of their races. Their peoples are not ignorant of the meaning of liberty, and even when the British tried Socialism, they feared the loss of liberty.

If our civilization is to survive, our people must not be ignorant of the meaning of America. The re-education and the rededication of the American people, it would seem to me, is the really big task that faces us.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

COMMON CAUSES OF HEADACHE

Headache is so common, as over 200 causes for headache have been found, that sometimes patients consulting their physicians fail to mention their headache at all.

In the Journal of Allergy, St. Louis, Dr. H. D. Ogden states that he undertook a statistical study of amount or degree of headache in nearly 6,000 persons but only 4,634 who cooperated in the study are reported.

In order to crosscheck accuracy, different methods of surveying these cases were used in three groups. Group 1 included employes of several hospitals—that is various types of personnel almost paralleling or exactly resembling the general adult population. Questionnaires were distributed and collected through the management of the hospital. Group 2 were interviewed, consisting of salesmen, saleswomen, housewives and manual laborers.

Group 3 consisted of persons intelligent enough to give accurate responses without interviews, including medical students, physicians and nuns.

Group 4 consisted of the total of the three first groups.

The incidence or number of headache cases of all types in the total group was 64.8 per cent (about two of every three persons thus had headaches), pain in the front area (forehead) being the most frequent type.

Persons with headaches have more respiratory (nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lung) ailments and also more cases of allergy in their families and, as noted above, only 18 per cent of persons with headache seek medical aid for headache alone.

Headache occurs more often in females, young adults, single people, educated persons, executives, students and professional groups.

From the above study we can readily see that there are several background factors to be considered in the management of headache. I have written before of attending a medical convention in which it was agreed that poor eyesight was not a common cause of headache and less than fifteen years later, it was agreed that poor vision, poorly fitting glasses, poorly fitted frames on glasses were common causes of headache.

Still further, Dr. Ogden states that recognition of the possible allergic basis of headaches may be very important, along with the handling of the mental, emotional and occupational problems.

It may come as a surprise to many to learn that in addition to causing head colds and stomach upsets, allergy can be a not uncommon cause of headaches.

Anemia

Anemia—thin blood—may also be a cause of headache. Read Dr. Barton's leaflet on the subject entitled "Anemia" which may be obtained by sending 10 cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. One Clear Sign Above the Fog

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — A lot of people have been wondering how dynamic Dick Nixon, 39 years old and a newcomer in politics, managed to latch on to the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket at Chicago.

The story is one of an extremely astute and opportunistic young man plus the hit-and-miss habits of a political convention in picking its candidates—especially the vice president.

Nixon, a resident of Whittier, California, near Pasadena, had come to know an automobile salesman in Pasadena, Paul Hoffman, who later became president of Studebaker and took over the most important reconstruction job in the world — head of the Marshall Plan. Last winter Hoffman became one of the three top advisers to General Eisenhower and head of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

Prior to the Chicago convention, Eisenhower cohorts were casting around for a way to wean the powerful California delegation away from Governor Warren and over to Ike. Nixon was approached by Hoffman as to how this could be done. Naive at politics, Hoffman even suggested that Nixon himself run for president in the California primary, with the idea of weakening Warren's hold on California's 76 votes.

However, Nixon, not anxious to buck either Governor Warren or Congressman Tom Werdel, who had already been drafted by Old-Guard Republicans to run against the governor, declined. Instead he suggested that he would become a delegate from California and work from within to switch Warren delegates over to Eisenhower on the second ballot.

Nixon figured that as a senator, he would be given the courtesy of picking ten delegates, and with this as a nucleus he could make sure that California was in Eisenhower's column before the balloting had gone more than one round.

In order to stir up Eisenhower sentiment in California, Nixon sent out 25,000 letters to registered GOP voters, asking: "Who is your choice for president, assuming that Governor Warren is not nominated?"

This mailing job may have been one expense to which the so-called millionaires' club donated. Governor Warren, however, got wind of the Nixon plebiscite, and never having cared much for the ambitious young senator from California, a mutual friend, Bernard Brennan, also a member of the millionaires' club, put the quietus on Nixon's vote-results.

However, Nixon arrived at Chicago with a tacit understanding from Paul Hoffman that he would do his best for Ike inside the California delegation and that Ike, in turn, would give him favorable consideration for the vice presidency. At Chicago, Nixon more than kept his word.

It was he who swung California over to the Eisenhower point of view when it came to the debate over the Langlie Amendment, and it was he who literally grabbed the microphone away from Senator Knowland, when it came to the hot debate over seating the Georgian delegation.

After Ike was nominated, Paul Hoffman kept his word. So with Hoffman backing him and a friendly nod from Governor Dewey, plus Dick's record on Hiss and the plan to open up on Governor Stevenson's deposition for Hiss, the young senator from California had the number 2 spot on the Republican ticket in the bag.

Contracts and Gifts

One danger a senator risks if he accepts "expense" money from outsiders is that some of his benefactors may have contracts with the government and that he in turn may make representations to the government on their behalf. This is against the law.

For instance, some of Nixon's benefactors, or their attorneys, did have government contracts as follows:

K. T. Norris, president of the Norris Stamping Co., has a contract with the Defense Department for making shells and cartridges estimated at around $25,000,000.

Earl Adams, is attorney for Guy Atkinson, a builder with large government contracts.

In somewhat different category is Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Mirror, who is also the largest stockholder in the Title Insurance and Trust Co., which has underwritten all titles of the oil companies operating in the Tidelands Oil area. These underwriting policies total $48,000,000 and should the government finally take over Tidelands Oil wells, Mr. Chandler's company might be stuck with indemnifying the oil companies $48,000,000.

Senator Nixon, of course, voted consistently and vigorously for Tidelands Oil. Undoubtedly he would have done so whether Chandler had contributed to his expense fund or not, because California sentiment is predominantly that way. However, no senator can afford to be in the position of having his vote under suspicion—especially when he's running for vice president.

It is quite possible furthermore that Senator Nixon might make representations at the Defense Department regarding the Norris Stamping Co., not knowing that K. T. Norris had contributed to his expense fund. If so, then he would be in violation of the criminal code, Title 18, Sect. 281.

This is one reason why the Corrupt Practices Act makes it a criminal offense for a member of Congress to hide contributions. He must register the names of his contributors with the clerk of the House of Representatives so that the public may know, when he votes whether he was influenced by those who contributed to his campaign.

Senator Nixon's gift-givers, of course, contributed after he was elected, and their names were not made public. There was no way that the voters of California could judge what might influence Nixon's vote—until, by diligence of the press, the facts came to light.

Nixon's Start

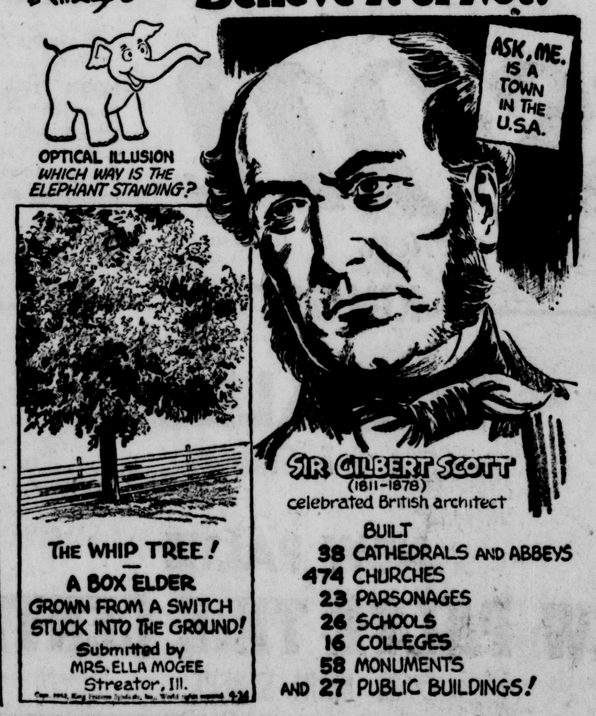

Dick Nixon got his start in politics immediately after the war when a wealthy group of businessmen in the Pasadena area called the "San Marino Group," decided to beat Congressman Jerry Voorhis, Democrat. The San Marino group was the original nucleus of the Millionaires' Club which has helped Nixon out since he was elected senator.

It consists of a country club set in a residential area where even during the depression the minimum restriction on a house was $15,000.

The San Marino group was looking around for a candidate to run against Voorhis even before they spotted Nixon, in fact even placing an ad in local newspapers. From this start, a "committee of 100" was organized, headed by Roy Day, a local newspaper publisher, though the San Marino group continued to be the real nucleus of the Nixon movement.

Truman, McGranery Should Check All Phases of Big Fund for Election by Private Groups

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 24—A plan to spend about $2,000,000 to influence the votes of members of Congress by rewarding them with financial support in their campaigns for reelection has been launched on a wide scale by two national labor organizations.

President Truman and Attorney General McGranery, who have begun making a study of the Dana Smith trust fund for Senator Nixon to see whether any laws have been violated, cannot in fairness fail to look also into all phases of the financial influence being exerted by other private organizations. The issue is whether there is an intent to influence or reward a member of Congress for voting in favor of or against specific items of legislation.

All the President and the attorney general have to do to discover a new field for study is to examine the statements made public by the CIO's Political Action Committee and by the AFL's League for Political Education, in which they now have filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives an accounting which shows that since January 1st of this year the CIO's group has spent $312,351 and the AFL's group has spent $119,148. It has also been announced that each organization will raise a fund of about $1,000,000, or a total of $2,000,000, a large part of which will go to state and local campaign committees and hence does not need to be reported to the House of Representatives.

After noting these expenditures and plans to raise further sums, the President and the attorney general need only get copies of the lists of names issued by the AFL and the CIO stating in detail which members of the House and Senate have voted for specific items of legislation desired by two national labor organizations and a list of members of Congress who have voted against specific items of legislation desired by the same labor organizations.

Then the President and attorney general might read the list of contributions already made to the campaigns for the Senate and House of those members who have voted as the two national labor organizations desired them to vote. Having done this, the President and the attorney general might take a look at the U. S. criminal code which says:

"Whoever shall promise, offer, or give, or cause to be promised, offered, or given, any money . . . to any member of either House of Congress . . . during his continuance in office, or to any person with his consent, connivance, or concurrence, with intent to influence his action, vote, or decision, on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding which may at any time be pending in either House of Congress, or before any committee thereof, or which by law or under the Constitution may be brought before him in his official capacity . . . shall be fined not more than three times the amount of the money or value of the thing so promised, offered, given, made, or tendered, and imprisoned not more than three years."

There are similar provisions in the criminal code, forbidding a member of Congress to accept or agree to accept "directly or indirectly" any money "for his attention to, or services, or with the intent to have his action, vote, or decision influenced, on any question . . . which may at any time be pending."

Is a campaign contribution which is made to a senator's or congressman's own political committee or a committee active in connection with the campaign of a member of the House or Senate a violation of the U. S. Criminal Code when it is associated specifically with votes already cast in Congress and the promises of members to continue their voting record of the past? What would the American labor leaders say if some day a large corporation made public its satisfaction with the record of certain members of Congress on specific items of legislation—such as a vote for the Taft-Hartley Act—and if such a corporation publicly announced it was forming a political league to spend money to help reelect the members of Congress who had voted on particular bills as the corporation desired?

Rewarding a member of Congress with thousands of dollars of campaign money with intent to have him continue to vote as he has been voting on particular items of legislation is a matter of common knowledge. In the case of the Nixon fund, there is no evidence that any contributor of the 76 citizens in the group named a particular piece of legislation or conditioned his contribution on an assurance of a favorable vote for legislation desired.

Without any evidence of "intent" in relation to specific items of legislation, the President and the attorney general have caused the newspapers of the land to print statements that they are "studying" possible law violations in the Nixon case. It would be a constructive and salutary development and would remove any suspicion of abuse of high office by political persecution if the President and the attorney general now announced a study of palpable cases of influence of the votes of members of Congress as manifested by the extension to certain candidates for Congress of financial support in relation to specific votes recorded in Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The decision of the attorney general, James McGranery, to prevent the return of Charlie Chaplin to the United States if he should be found guilty of "subversive tendencies" is the first honest show of initiative against the Red front of Hollywood by the Department of Justice in the entire campaign against the treason.

I take some pleasure in the timing of my pastoral on the subject of this fellow's rotten personal career which appeared just before Mr. McGranery's announcement of his intentions. I would like to say that I have met Chaplin only once, and that nothing ever has occurred to create any personal malice to complicate my objective detestation of a filthy character who is a menace to young girls and whose attitude toward the enemies of the United States is no matter of mere suspicion.

Chaplin's brutality to a pregnant young woman whom he had lured to his mansion in Beverly Hills after he had observed her weakness from hunger and her frightened expression is a classic worthy of that art which is imputed to him by a cult of propagandists who find beauty in the sordid.

Hedda Hopper, the Hollywood gossip, told us in her recent book, "From Under My Hat," that Chaplin recounted with gusto the three days that he spent with the girl and then complained peevishly of her impudence in returning to his home, although it seems fairly obvious that she was hungry again by then, for Chaplain is notoriously stingy and probably gave her no money to go on with.

This young woman later was sentenced to 90 days in jail for bothering Chaplin, the sentence being suspended on condition that she stay away from Beverly Hills. When she violated that condition by calling again, Chaplin called the police and this time she got an actual term of 30 days and went to jail where a prison doctor determined that she was pregnant.

On her first arraignment, the time she got 90 days, as she turned away from the bar to leave the courtroom, broke, dazed and pregnant, a Beverly Hills policeman sidled up to her and gave her $100 and a tourist ticket to New York. She asked the cop whether Chaplain had sent him with the money and the ticket. He wouldn't answer.

Later, in a trial, Chaplin's paternity was established and he was ordered by the court to pay a small alimony, for his baby's support.

The late Haldeman-Julius, a pro-Communist pamphleteer, who poured forth a stream of obscenity and anti-Christian propaganda from Girard, Kansas, for many years, was an intimate friend of Chaplin at one stage of their sympathetic careers.

In one of his essays describing a visit to Chaplin's home during his brief dalliance with one of the three children whom Chaplin married, Haldeman-Julius made merry over a spectacle the disgusting nature of which, of course, was not apparent to a fellow of his low character. Haldeman-Julius eventually was convicted of cheating on his income tax and sentenced to prison. He was found dead in his swimming pool soon afterward.

As to Chaplin's record of association with Communists which may be held against him on his attempt to re-enter the United States, there is abundant material. This includes a radio message sent from Chaplin's home, 1085 Summit Drive, Beverly Hills, on Nov. 21, 1947, well after the war, be it noted, to Pablo Picasso, a notorious Spanish Communist and exile from Spain, living in Paris. The message read:

"Can you head committee on French artists to protest to American Embassy in Paris, the outrageous deportation proceedings against Hans Eisler and simultaneously send me a copy of protest for use here. Greetings."

Eisler was the Communist musician who sneaked into the United States thanks to the persistent, repeated intervention of

TRAFFIC TOLL IS YOUR HEARTACHE

How many people in your family, four? Then two of you are going to be injured in traffic accidents before you die. Shocking, isn't it, when you look at it that way? And yet statistically it is a fair assumption.

The National Safety Council asserts that unless an effective way is found to curb traffic accidents, which killed 37,300 persons and injured another 1,300,000 last year, one out of every two persons living today will be injured in traffic before he dies.

Who will it be in your family, Sister, Junior, Mother or Dad?

And don't just ask yourself that grim question. What can you do to prevent it?

Safety engineers say that miracles could be accomplished in reducing the traffic toll if drivers would obey a few simple rules:

Drive courteously—show concern for the other fellow instead of competing with him for speed, space and hospital room.

Drive "defensively"—that means that you always look ahead for road problems and traffic signals and watch what other drivers are doing instead of bulling ahead on your own.

Drive legally—obey the limitations which competent highway engineers have tried to put on your driving to save your life and the lives of other drivers.

You can't reform ALL drivers overnight in accordance with these suggestions. But you CAN start with yourself—if you don't relish the picture of your dear ones or yourself maimed in traffic.

HIGH HOLIDAYS

It is well in this land of many religions for members of one faith to be aware of the holidays and customs of those of other beliefs. This year two of the most important holidays on Jewish calendar occur within eight days of one another. Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, was celebrated on September 21 and 22. Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement will be celebrated on September 29.

For the Jews Rosh Hashanah marked the beginning of the year 5713 and although American Jews live by the same calendars as their Christian neighbors the holiday is significant to them. It is a reminder of their ties with ancient beliefs that have survived persecution and time.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is one of the most solemn days observed by Jews. It begins on the eve of the holiday with the chanting of the traditional and moving Kol Nidre. The day itself is devoted to fasting, prayer and meditation.

Many of the spiritual truths which nourish Christianity have their roots in the teachings of the Hebrew prophets and scholars. On their high holy days we wish our Jewish friends the full enjoyment of their religious duties and the satisfaction that comes to good men who practice their faith whatever form it takes.

USE OF GUIDED MISSILES

News that the Navy has used guided missiles in the Korean war brings up another new question in that strange and little-understood conflict.

Will use of the powerful, pilotless weapons mean the beginning of a new and increasingly deadly phase of the war? It's not known generally how far the Russians have developed this type of weapon, but if they have it there is no reason to think they won't now use it.

And once the bars are down, where do things go from there? Our first guided missile was a clumsy affair compared to the potential of this type of weapon, compared even to the type used by the Germans in World War II. But once it becomes an acceptable thing in Korea, improved versions certainly won't be long in coming.

Certainly, in an all-out war, it's to be expected that all of the best and latest in military equipment will be used. But Korea is not an all-out war. It is very definitely and deliberately a limited war.

How then does the use of guided missiles fit in with this confined conflict? If it means an intensification, or even possibly an enlargement, of the war, that is a matter of concern to the American people.

There is nothing like a nice walk up and down hills in the hot sun carrying a golf bag for the man who needs a bit of rest.

'These Days'

THE DANGER OF IGNORANCE

I get it in my fan mail but it is particularly noticeable in question time after lectures and speeches—a satisfaction with ignorance, even a pleasure, a delight with an avoidance of knowledge and facts and a repetition of unprovable prejudices.

In the realm of public questions, I often find that our people are ignorant of our form of government. The Presidential campaign, each four years, is ballyhooed into such a circus as Mussolini would have enjoyed had he not feared defeat. The result is that far too many of our people believe that we have a Presidential form of government when actually the Constitution reduces the authority of the President and elevates the power of Congress. Mr. Truman has made that mistake since he was elected to his second term and it took a Supreme Court decision to put him in his place.

Similarly, far too many of our people are ignorant of the history of our country and the traditions of our people. They fail to grasp that the essence of our civilization is the liberty of the individual human being, as a gift from God, as clearly defined in the Declaration of Independence.

The abolition of poverty may be a virtuous ideal but its accomplishment must not, in our tradition, involve the abolition of liberty. When human beings become dependent upon the political power of the state for their livelihood, the independence of person, the dignity of person, must disappear. It is the identification of economic survival with police power that destroys the right of the individual to liberty.

This spectacle we have now witnessed in some 15 or 16 countries. The abolition of poverty is the ideal of Marxism but the Communists have reinstituted slavery as a human institution. Whereas in our civilization, the concept has been that for every man there must be equality of opportunity to achieve what his own abilities, application, fortitude and labor will produce, in the Marxian concept of a governmentally planned society, every person must be reduced to the position of a mechanical creature subject to the necessities of those who control the state.

Hard times, such as our recent depression which lasted from 1929 to 1941, will produce alterations in the thinking of a people, but the danger is that generations will arise who are completely cut loose from the traditions of a civilization. The shocking condition in our land is that the older people, those who knew America before Roosevelt, should have forgotten what they once believed, that freedom for the individual, political and economic, built this great society. The private ownership of property and the recognition of superior accomplishments by individuals is the essence of a free society.

In the 1930's, every country developed a Stalinesque type, but each was different. Meh's minds turned from the Natural Law to the Golden Calf. When the law prevails, men are governed by absolutes, by the restraints that are imposed by a morality revealed by God to man. Even among peoples who are outside the Judaic-Christian-Moslem civilizations, these moral restraints appear in myriad forms but always based upon the same concept, namely, that of a power outside ourselves that makes for righteousness, as Matthew Arnold once put it.

However, in the 1930's, the trend seemed universal to turn from the law of life to the great man, the inspired, superior individual who became infinitely wise and competent. Nietzsche's Uebermensch—the Superman—became an adored creature, almost worshipped for his greatness and goodness. Of such, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and Roosevelt were the best known. But smaller gods also appeared. It is to be said for Great Britain and France that they passed through this period without becoming subject to this trend, although De Gaulle could have been such a figure and Aneurin Bevan obviously aspires to this type of glorification.

The British and the French avoided the trend because they had kept alive among their peoples the fundamental traditions of their races. Their peoples are not ignorant of the meaning of liberty, and even when the British tried Socialism, they feared the loss of liberty.

If our civilization is to survive, our people must not be ignorant of the meaning of America. The re-education and the rededication of the American people, it would seem to me, is the really big task that faces us.

That Body of Yours

COMMON CAUSES OF HEADACHE

Headache is so common, as over 200 causes for headache have been found, that sometimes patients consulting their physicians fail to mention their headache at all.

In the Journal of Allergy, St. Louis, Dr. H. D. Ogden states that he undertook a statistical study of amount or degree of headache in nearly 6,000 persons but only 4,634 who cooperated in the study are reported.

In order to crosscheck accuracy, different methods of surveying these cases were used in three groups. Group 1 included employes of several hospitals—that is various types of personnel almost paralleling or exactly resembling the general adult population. Questionnaires were distributed and collected through the management of the hospital. Group 2 were interviewed, consisting of salesmen, saleswomen, housewives and manual laborers.

Group 3 consisted of persons intelligent enough to give accurate responses without interviews, including medical students, physicians and nuns.

Group 4 consisted of the total of the three first groups.

The incidence or number of headache cases of all types in the total group was 64.8 per cent (about two of every three persons thus had headaches), pain in the front area (forehead) being the most frequent type.

Persons with headaches have more respiratory (nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lung) ailments and also more cases of allergy in their families and, as noted above, only 18 per cent of persons with headache seek medical aid for headache alone.

Headache occurs more often in females, young adults, single people, educated persons, executives, students and professional groups.

From the above study we can readily see that there are several background factors to be considered in the management of headache. I have written before of attending a medical convention in which it was agreed that poor eyesight was not a common cause of headache and less than fifteen years later, it was agreed that poor vision, poorly fitting glasses, poorly fitted frames on glasses were common causes of headache.

Still further, Dr. Ogden states that recognition of the possible allergic basis of headaches may be very important, along with the handling of the mental, emotional and occupational problems.

It may come as a surprise to many to learn that in addition to causing head colds and stomach upsets, allergy can be a not uncommon cause of headaches.

Anemia

Anemia—thin blood—may also be a cause of headache. One Clear Sign Above the Fog

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — A lot of people have been wondering how dynamic Dick Nixon, 39 years old and a newcomer in politics, managed to latch on to the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket at Chicago.

The story is one of an extremely astute and opportunistic young man plus the hit-and-miss habits of a political convention in picking its candidates—especially the vice president.

Nixon, a resident of Whittier, California, near Pasadena, had come to know an automobile salesman in Pasadena, Paul Hoffman, who later became president of Studebaker and took over the most important reconstruction job in the world — head of the Marshall Plan. Last winter Hoffman became one of the three top advisers to General Eisenhower and head of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

Prior to the Chicago convention, Eisenhower cohorts were casting around for a way to wean the powerful California delegation away from Governor Warren and over to Ike. Nixon was approached by Hoffman as to how this could be done. Naive at politics, Hoffman even suggested that Nixon himself run for president in the California primary, with the idea of weakening Warren's hold on California's 76 votes.

However, Nixon, not anxious to buck either Governor Warren or Congressman Tom Werdel, who had already been drafted by Old-Guard Republicans to run against the governor, declined. Instead he suggested that he would become a delegate from California and work from within to switch Warren delegates over to Eisenhower on the second ballot.

Nixon figured that as a senator, he would be given the courtesy of picking ten delegates, and with this as a nucleus he could make sure that California was in Eisenhower's column before the balloting had gone more than one round.

In order to stir up Eisenhower sentiment in California, Nixon sent out 25,000 letters to registered GOP voters, asking: "Who is your choice for president, assuming that Governor Warren is not nominated?"

This mailing job may have been one expense to which the so-called millionaires' club donated. Governor Warren, however, got wind of the Nixon plebiscite, and never having cared much for the ambitious young senator from California, a mutual friend, Bernard Brennan, also a member of the millionaires' club, put the quietus on Nixon's vote-results.

However, Nixon arrived at Chicago with a tacit understanding from Paul Hoffman that he would do his best for Ike inside the California delegation and that Ike, in turn, would give him favorable consideration for the vice presidency. At Chicago, Nixon more than kept his word.

It was he who swung California over to the Eisenhower point of view when it came to the debate over the Langlie Amendment, and it was he who literally grabbed the microphone away from Senator Knowland, when it came to the hot debate over seating the Georgian delegation.

After Ike was nominated, Paul Hoffman kept his word. So with Hoffman backing him and a friendly nod from Governor Dewey, plus Dick's record on Hiss and the plan to open up on Governor Stevenson's deposition for Hiss, the young senator from California had the number 2 spot on the Republican ticket in the bag.

Contracts and Gifts

One danger a senator risks if he accepts "expense" money from outsiders is that some of his benefactors may have contracts with the government and that he in turn may make representations to the government on their behalf. This is against the law.

For instance, some of Nixon's benefactors, or their attorneys, did have government contracts as follows:

K. T. Norris, president of the Norris Stamping Co., has a contract with the Defense Department for making shells and cartridges estimated at around $25,000,000.

Earl Adams, is attorney for Guy Atkinson, a builder with large government contracts.

In somewhat different category is Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Mirror, who is also the largest stockholder in the Title Insurance and Trust Co., which has underwritten all titles of the oil companies operating in the Tidelands Oil area. These underwriting policies total $48,000,000 and should the government finally take over Tidelands Oil wells, Mr. Chandler's company might be stuck with indemnifying the oil companies $48,000,000.

Senator Nixon, of course, voted consistently and vigorously for Tidelands Oil. Undoubtedly he would have done so whether Chandler had contributed to his expense fund or not, because California sentiment is predominantly that way. However, no senator can afford to be in the position of having his vote under suspicion—especially when he's running for vice president.

It is quite possible furthermore that Senator Nixon might make representations at the Defense Department regarding the Norris Stamping Co., not knowing that K. T. Norris had contributed to his expense fund. If so, then he would be in violation of the criminal code, Title 18, Sect. 281.

This is one reason why the Corrupt Practices Act makes it a criminal offense for a member of Congress to hide contributions. He must register the names of his contributors with the clerk of the House of Representatives so that the public may know, when he votes whether he was influenced by those who contributed to his campaign.

Senator Nixon's gift-givers, of course, contributed after he was elected, and their names were not made public. There was no way that the voters of California could judge what might influence Nixon's vote—until, by diligence of the press, the facts came to light.

Nixon's Start

Dick Nixon got his start in politics immediately after the war when a wealthy group of businessmen in the Pasadena area called the "San Marino Group," decided to beat Congressman Jerry Voorhis, Democrat. The San Marino group was the original nucleus of the Millionaires' Club which has helped Nixon out since he was elected senator.

It consists of a country club set in a residential area where even during the depression the minimum restriction on a house was $15,000.

The San Marino group was looking around for a candidate to run against Voorhis even before they spotted Nixon, in fact even placing an ad in local newspapers. From this start, a "committee of 100" was organized, headed by Roy Day, a local newspaper publisher, though the San Marino group continued to be the real nucleus of the Nixon movement.

Truman, McGranery Should Check All Phases of Big Fund for Election by Private Groups

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 24—A plan to spend about $2,000,000 to influence the votes of members of Congress by rewarding them with financial support in their campaigns for reelection has been launched on a wide scale by two national labor organizations.

President Truman and Attorney General McGranery, who have begun making a study of the Dana Smith trust fund for Senator Nixon to see whether any laws have been violated, cannot in fairness fail to look also into all phases of the financial influence being exerted by other private organizations. The issue is whether there is an intent to influence or reward a member of Congress for voting in favor of or against specific items of legislation.

All the President and the attorney general have to do to discover a new field for study is to examine the statements made public by the CIO's Political Action Committee and by the AFL's League for Political Education, in which they now have filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives an accounting which shows that since January 1st of this year the CIO's group has spent $312,351 and the AFL's group has spent $119,148. It has also been announced that each organization will raise a fund of about $1,000,000, or a total of $2,000,000, a large part of which will go to state and local campaign committees and hence does not need to be reported to the House of Representatives.

After noting these expenditures and plans to raise further sums, the President and the attorney general need only get copies of the lists of names issued by the AFL and the CIO stating in detail which members of the House and Senate have voted for specific items of legislation desired by two national labor organizations and a list of members of Congress who have voted against specific items of legislation desired by the same labor organizations.

Then the President and attorney general might read the list of contributions already made to the campaigns for the Senate and House of those members who have voted as the two national labor organizations desired them to vote. Having done this, the President and the attorney general might take a look at the U. S. criminal code which says:

"Whoever shall promise, offer, or give, or cause to be promised, offered, or given, any money . . . to any member of either House of Congress . . . during his continuance in office, or to any person with his consent, connivance, or concurrence, with intent to influence his action, vote, or decision, on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding which may at any time be pending in either House of Congress, or before any committee thereof, or which by law or under the Constitution may be brought before him in his official capacity . . . shall be fined not more than three times the amount of the money or value of the thing so promised, offered, given, made, or tendered, and imprisoned not more than three years."

There are similar provisions in the criminal code, forbidding a member of Congress to accept or agree to accept "directly or indirectly" any money "for his attention to, or services, or with the intent to have his action, vote, or decision influenced, on any question . . . which may at any time be pending."

Is a campaign contribution which is made to a senator's or congressman's own political committee or a committee active in connection with the campaign of a member of the House or Senate a violation of the U. S. Criminal Code when it is associated specifically with votes already cast in Congress and the promises of members to continue their voting record of the past? What would the American labor leaders say if some day a large corporation made public its satisfaction with the record of certain members of Congress on specific items of legislation —such as a vote for the Taft-Hartley Act—and if such a corporation publicly announced it was forming a political league to spend money to help reelect the members of Congress who had voted on particular bills as the corporation desired?

Rewarding a member of Congress with thousands of dollars of campaign money with intent to have him continue to vote as he has been voting on particular items of legislation is a matter of common knowledge. In the case of the Nixon fund, there is no evidence that any contributor of the 76 citizens in the group named a particular piece of legislation or conditioned his contribution on an assurance of a favorable vote for legislation desired.

Without any evidence of "intent" in relation to specific items of legislation, the President and the attorney general have caused the newspapers of the land to print statements that they are "studying" possible law violations in the Nixon case. It would be a constructive and salutary development and would remove any suspicion of abuse of high office by political persecution if the President and the attorney general now announced a study of palpable cases of influence of the votes of members of Congress as manifested by the extension to certain candidates for Congress of financial support in relation to specific votes recorded in Congress.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The decision of the attorney general, James McGranery, to prevent the return of Charlie Chaplin to the United States if he should be found guilty of "subversive tendencies" is the first honest show of initiative against the Red front of Hollywood by the Department of Justice in the entire campaign against the treason.

I take some pleasure in the timing of my pastoral on the subject of this fellow's rotten personal career which appeared just before Mr. McGranery's announcement of his intentions. I would like to say that I have met Chaplin only once, and that nothing ever has occurred to create any personal malice to complicate my objective detestation of a filthy character who is a menace to young girls and whose attitude toward the enemies of the United States is no matter of mere suspicion.

Chaplin's brutality to a pregnant young woman whom he had lured to his mansion in Beverly Hills after he had observed her weakness from hunger and her frightened expression is a classic worthy of that art which is imputed to him by a cult of propagandists who find beauty in the sordid.

Hedda Hopper, the Hollywood gossip, told us in her recent book, "From Under My Hat," that Chaplin recounted with gusto the three days that he spent with the girl and then complained peevishly of her impudence in returning to his home, although it seems fairly obvious that she was hungry again by then, for Chaplain is notoriously stingy and probably gave her no money to go on with.

This young woman later was sentenced to 90 days in jail for bothering Chaplin, the sentence being suspended on condition that she stay away from Beverly Hills. When she violated that condition by calling again, Chaplin called the police and this time she got an actual term of 30 days and went to jail where a prison doctor determined that she was pregnant.

On her first arraignment, the time she got 90 days, as she turned away from the bar to leave the courtroom, broke, dazed and pregnant, a Beverly Hills policeman sidled up to her and gave her $100 and a tourist ticket to New York. She asked the cop whether Chaplain had sent him with the money and the ticket. He wouldn't answer.

Later, in a trial, Chaplin's paternity was established and he was ordered by the court to pay a small alimony, for his baby's support.

The late Haldeman-Julius, a pro-Communist pamphleteer, who poured forth a stream of obscenity and anti-Christian propaganda from Girard, Kansas, for many years, was an intimate friend of Chaplin at one stage of their sympathetic careers.

In one of his essays describing a visit to Chaplin's home during his brief dalliance with one of the three children whom Chaplin married, Haldeman-Julius made merry over a spectacle the disgusting nature of which, of course, was not apparent to a fellow of his low character. Haldeman-Julius eventually was convicted of cheating on his income tax and sentenced to prison. He was found dead in his swimming pool soon afterward.

As to Chaplin's record of association with Communists which may be held against him on his attempt to re-enter the United States, there is abundant material. This includes a radio message sent from Chaplin's home, 1085 Summit Drive, Beverly Hills, on Nov. 21, 1947, well after the war, be it noted, to Pablo Picasso, a notorious Spanish Communist and exile from Spain, living in Paris. The message read:

"Can you head committee on French artists to protest to American Embassy in Paris, the outrageous deportation proceedings against Hans Eisler and simultaneously send me a copy of protest for use here. Greetings."

Eisler was the Communist musician who sneaked into the United States thanks to the persistent, repeated intervention of

Questions — Answers

Q—What is the superstition about telling time by observing the eyes of a cat?

A—Chinese peasants believe they can tell the noon hour by looking into a cat's eyes. Even on clouded days the pupil becomes a slit when the sun is directly overhead.

Q.—How are cases before the Supreme Court of the United States decided?

A—A case may be heard if six justices are present and is decided by a majority vote. If the Court is evenly divided there is no decision and the case must be heard again.

So They Say...

They (the Democrats) manufacture emergencies as the rugs under which they sweep stupidity, blunders and corruption.
—Republican presidential candidate Dwight Eisenhower.

Aboard the U.S.S. Midway at Sea, Sept. 24 (AP)—NATO naval chiefs rang the curtain down on "Operation Mainbrace" today after the American cruiser Quincy "blasted" a make-believe enemy raider out of the North Sea. The raider—disguised as a merchant ship—was the British minelayer Apollo. It had raced out of the Kattegat Straits between Denmark and Sweden, presumably impersonating a Russian surface vessel breaking out of the Baltic Sea. Shore-based aircraft shadowed the speeding ship until the Quincy brought it under the "fire" of her guns, about 140 miles east of Britain's Orkney Islands. The Apollo was judged sent to the bottom. Rain and winds of 35 miles an hour hampered air operations yesterday, keeping carrier planes under wraps all day.

Cosmic rays bombarding the air constantly make part of the carbon in the carbon dioxide of the air radioactive.

As Pegler Sees It

Eleanor Roosevelt with Sumner Welles and others in the State Department. He was coddled by the so-called new school of social research, a Rockefeller Foundation project in New York, but finally exhausted his privileges and went back to Czechoslovakia where he became a functionary of the Kremlin's puppet government. Chaplin was a close friend and associate of Eisler in Hollywood. The Rockefeller Foundation gave a specific grant of $25,000 for Eisler's "project" which was falsely represented as a class in music.

Chaplin was listed as a "sponsor" in the propaganda of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the Peoples' Radio Foundation, and the American Continental Congress for World Peace which was held in Mexico City. The first two of these were named in the attorney-general's list of subversive organizations and the so-called Continental Congress was condemned as a straight Communist front by the State Department and the House Committee.

Chaplin's name also showed up on the court brief filed by a group of Hollywood personalities in 1949 in favor of the notorious "Hollywood Ten." This was a group of writers and other movie hacks who went to prison for contempt of Congress in refusing to give information.

In October, 1942, the Daily Worker said Chaplain addressed as "Comrades" a rally at Carnegie Hall, New York, to demand a second front to save Russian lives by the sacrifice of American lives. In this address, Chaplin praised Franklin D. Roosevelt because Roosevelt had released Earl Browder from prison and directly on the subject of communism said:

"They say communism may spread all over the world. And I say, 'So what'? The Communists are ordinary people like ourselves who love duty and love life."

He also praised Harry Bridges, the Communist commissar of the ports of the American west coast, now under order of deportation.

The sponsors of this rally included Lillian Hellman, Carl Van Doren, I. F. Stone, a New York propagandist, and Rockwell Kent, all notorious figures. Van Doren's widow for years has been the editor of the New York Herald-Tribune Sunday book section and she was an intimate friend of Wendell Willkie during the period when he went haywire over Russia.

On the journey to New York for this Communist rally, Chaplin brought along the young woman who later bore him the illegitimate baby. For this, he was indicted under the White Slave Act, but was acquitted.

Although Chaplin once remarked that he had been a "paying guest" of the United States during his 40 years here and made a point of his claim that he paid American income tax on money derived from other countries, the fact is nevertheless that he did try to swindle the treasury and, in 1932, in President Hoover's term, he was forced to pay a "tax deficiency" of $1,174,000.

The late Elmer Irey, who was coordinator of all the treasury investigating agencies, disclosed that Chaplin devised a trick of paying large amounts to a relative representing that individual as a business partner, Irey's men found out, however, that the relative was slipping the money back to Chaplin.

Meet BILL RIGOTTI, construction worker for Arthur A. Johnson Corp. and Mason & Hanger Co., Inc., New York

WE ASKED A TUNNEL WORKER

"Guess how much more telephone cable costs today?"

Deep down in a man-made cave for a new subway, we interviewed Bill Rigotti. He's dug his way around hundreds of underground cables that carry millions of telephone messages every day.

"Cost of cable?" said Bill. "Maybe twice as much, I guess . . . everything's up these days."

Bill Rigotti wasn't far wrong. Cable does cost a great deal more today than it did thirteen years ago. The copper in its wires has more than doubled in price. And the lead that covers the cable has more than tripled in price!

We must pay these higher prices for cable and everything else because we can't dodge inflation any more than you can. Your cost of living is up 92% since 1939. Our costs of materials, wages and taxes are up as much or more. Yet the average price of telephone service has risen only 15%. We think these facts speak for themselves—especially since telephone service today is better than ever before.

How Telephone Company costs have gone up since 1939

Lead up	250%	Cable up	113%
Poles up	128%	Raw cotton up	334%
Taxes up	165%	Buildings up	106%
Copper up	122%	Steel up	73%

yet phone service is up an average of only 15%

The raider—disguised as a merchant ship—was the British minelayer Apollo. It had raced out of the Kattegat Straits between Denmark and Sweden, presumably impersonating a Russian surface vessel breaking out of the Baltic Sea. Shore-based aircraft shadowed the speeding ship until the Quincy brought it under the "fire" of her guns, about 140 miles east of Britain's Orkney Islands. The Apollo was judged sent to the bottom. Rain and winds of 35 miles an hour hampered air operations yesterday, keeping carrier planes under wraps all day.

Cosmic rays bombarding the air constantly make part of the carbon in the carbon dioxide of the air radioactive.

As Pegler Sees It

Eleanor Roosevelt with Sumner Welles and others in the State Department. He was coddled by the so-called new school of social research, a Rockefeller Foundation project in New York, but finally exhausted his privileges and went back to Czechoslovakia where he became a functionary of the Kremlin's puppet government. Chaplin was a close friend and associate of Eisler in Hollywood. The Rockefeller Foundation gave a specific grant of $25,000 for Eisler's "project" which was falsely represented as a class in music.

Chaplin was listed as a "sponsor" in the propaganda of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the Peoples' Radio Foundation, and the American Continental Congress for World Peace which was held in Mexico City. The first two of these were named in the attorney-general's list of subversive organizations and the so-called Continental Congress was condemned as a straight Communist front by the State Department and the House Committee.

Chaplin's name also showed up on the court brief filed by a group of Hollywood personalities in 1949 in favor of the notorious "Hollywood Ten." This was a group of writers and other movie hacks who went to prison for contempt of Congress in refusing to give information.

In October, 1942, the Daily Worker said Chaplain addressed as "Comrades" a rally at Carnegie Hall, New York, to demand a second front to save Russian lives by the sacrifice of American lives. In this address, Chaplin praised Franklin D. Roosevelt because Roosevelt had released Earl Browder from prison and directly on the subject of communism said:

"They say communism may spread all over the world. And I say, 'So what'? The Communists are ordinary people like ourselves who love duty and love life."

He also praised Harry Bridges, the Communist commissar of the ports of the American west coast, now under order of deportation.

The sponsors of this rally included Lillian Hellman, Carl Van Doren, I. F. Stone, a New York propagandist, and Rockwell Kent, all notorious figures. Van Doren's widow for years has been the editor of the New York Herald-Tribune Sunday book section and she was an intimate friend of Wendell Willkie during the period when he went haywire over Russia.

On the journey to New York for this Communist rally, Chaplin brought along the young woman who later bore him the illegitimate baby. For this, he was indicted under the White Slave Act, but was acquitted.

Although Chaplin once remarked that he had been a "paying guest" of the United States during his 40 years here and made a point of his claim that he paid American income tax on money derived from other countries, the fact is nevertheless that he did try to swindle the treasury and, in 1932, in President Hoover's term, he was forced to pay a "tax deficiency" of $1,174,000.

The late Elmer Irey, who was coordinator of all the treasury investigating agencies, disclosed that Chaplin devised a trick of paying large amounts to a relative representing that individual as a business partner, Irey's men found out, however, that the relative was slipping the money back to Chaplin.

TB Needs 'Walkers'

An appeal for one or two pairs of "walkers" was issued today by the Patients' Service Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association. Walkers are similar in purpose to crutches but resemble saw horses. Anyone having a set they are willing to lend for use by a patient of the Ulster County Hospital may contact the Tuberculosis and Health Association, telephone 1164.

Arrives in France

Le Havre, France, Sept. 24 (AP)—American film star Rita Hayworth arrived in France today aboard the liner United States and was driven to Paris by Prince Aly Khan's chauffeur. Rita refused, however, to say whether she had come to France for a reconciliation with her estranged husband, against whom she has filed preliminary divorce papers in the U. S. She said she would se Aly but she didn't know when. She will spend several months in Europe.

Meet BILL RIGOTTI, construction worker for Arthur A. Johnson Corp. and Mason & Hanger Co., Inc., New York

WE ASKED A TUNNEL WORKER

"Guess how much more telephone cable costs today?"

Deep down in a man-made cave for a new subway, we interviewed Bill Rigotti. He's dug his way around hundreds of underground cables that carry millions of telephone messages every day.

"Cost of cable?" said Bill. "Maybe twice as much, I guess . . . everything's up these days."

Bill Rigotti wasn't far wrong. Cable does cost a great deal more today than it did thirteen years ago. The copper in its wires has more than doubled in price. And the lead that covers the cable has more than tripled in price!

We must pay these higher prices for cable and everything else because we can't dodge inflation any more than you can. Your cost of living is up 92% since 1939. Our costs of materials, wages and taxes are up as much or more. Yet the average price of telephone service has risen only 15%. We think these facts speak for themselves—especially since telephone service today is better than ever before.

How Telephone Company costs have gone up since 1939

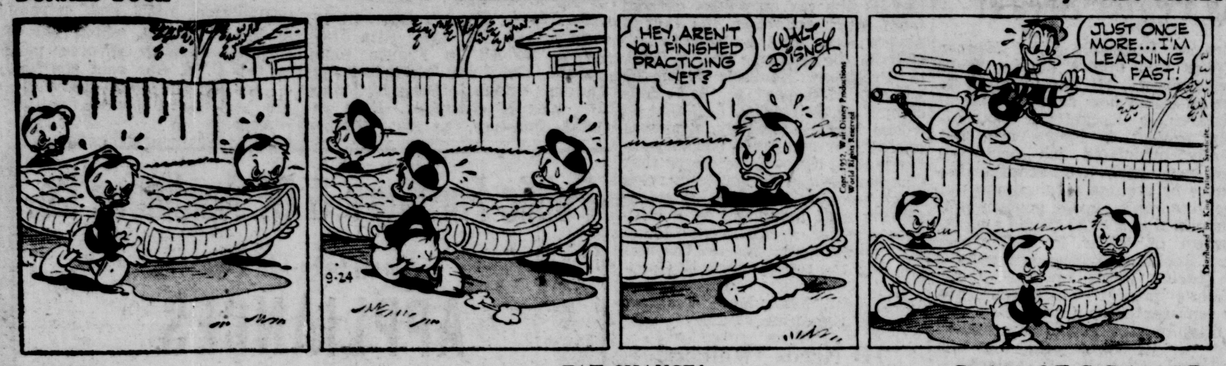

Lead up	250%	Cable up	113%
Poles up	128%	Raw cotton up	334%
Taxes up	165%	Buildings up	106%
Copper up	122%	Steel up	73%

yet phone service is up an average of only 15%

Crowd of 16,000 Is Tense as Nixon Tells His Story

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24—This city's huge public hall was an eerie scene last night when 16,000 persons sat in almost hypnotic silence under the spell of a voice that was pleading political honesty.

It was the voice of Sen. Richard M. Nixon speaking from California. The plea was this: He had done no wrong in accepting an $18,000 private expense fund from a group of businessmen— and he had not profited personally from this help.

The voice seemd to come from out of nowhere. At first it gripped the people who heard it with an emotion that seemed almost painful in its intensity. They had come to hear a political speech—and they were hearing a man's historic defense of his integrity.

These people had expected an address by GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower, whiplashing the Democratic administration for what he called "cheap money" policies.

Fight for Political Life

But the candidate delayed this talk in order to hear Nixon's nation-wide defense, which was in effect a fight for his political life. While thousands waited in the hall, the titular head of the Republican party sat in a side room at the hall with his wife, Mamie, watching and hearing the television-radio broadcast. They were alone.

Outside, the audience had just given a ringing cheer for Sen. Robert A. Taft's appeal for a GOP victory in November, which would send Eisenhower to the White House.

Then the voice suddenly came from the loudspeaker. A hush fell over the crowd. They hunched forward in their chairs, tense and expectant.

"My fellow Americans;" the voice said, "I come before you tonight as a candidate for the vice presidency and as a man whose honesty and integrity has been questioned * * *."

There was only the sound of the voice. There was no television screen carrying the image of the Senator. Only the voice.

The sea of faces stared toward the platform as though the voice was coming from the speaker's rostrum.

Tells His Side

". . . That is why I am here tonight. I want to tell you my side of the case . . ."

The voice went on. The people stared ahead of them almost as if they were embarrassed—not wanting to look at each other —as though they were peering through a window at a scene they knew was too private for prying eyes.

There was hardly a movement. A tiny flag waved from side to side in slow motion in a big woman's hands. A man rubbed his chin. A head turned slowly to look around. But there was almost no sound, minute after minute.

Down front, a small boy sleepily rubbed his eyes and looked up at the woman beside him, probably his mother. But she was so intent on the voice that she paid no heed to the boy. He went back to a serious study of his fingers. He didn't bother her.

Real Drama

This was drama—and these people were actors as much as the man whose voice came to them over the loudspeakers. It was evident in the trembling fingers of a woman—the intense look on a young man's face—the bowed head of a gray-haired man seated on the front row.

What were they thinking? No one but they could say. But no one in that hall could escape the electric emotions that held the audience for minutes.

Spell is Broken

Then they laughed. Nixon told of receiving a gift of a dog. The spell was broken. They roared approval of Nixon remaining on the ticket. They broke into a cheer when Eisenhower strode to the stage and said: "Tonight I saw an example of courage."

It looked like Dick Nixon had won his fight to be the Republican vice presidential candidate.

Donations Flow To Nixon Fund

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP)—Even before Sen. Richard M. Nixon's speech last night more than 400 contributors had donated $750 to the informal "crusading dollars" GOP fund-raising committee.

Treasurer Jim Reynolds announced last night that the committee has received contributions ranging from $1 to $50.

"So many of the donations come from people who state that for the first time in their lives they are contributing to a man running for office," said Reynolds.

The project was started shortly after the disclosure of Sen. Nixon's $18,000 private fund for his expenses.

GOP Chairman

sorry they ever started this thing," said Summerfield.

Already, he said, at Washington GOP headquarters 20,000 telegrams were received by this morning, almost all in favor of retaining Nixon.

The telegrams still are pouring in at the Western Union capacity rate" of 1500 to 2000 an hour, he said.

An official of the GOP National Committee in Washington said a flood of telephone calls and telegrams from all over the country demanded that Nixon continue as the vice presidential candidate.

Wayne J. Hood, executive director for the national committee offered this personal comment at a hastily called news conference this morning.

Shows Stacks of Messages

Hood exhibited stacks of telegrams—he said there were more than 20,000—which came to the committee after Nixon's dramatic nationwide television and radio explanation of his personal finances and his special expense fund.

Nixon had asked the people to write or wire the committee whether they thought he should stay on or get off the ticket.

Committee officials said that of the first 4,000 telegrams received here, only 21 suggested that Nixon be dropped.

Many Donations

One official also reported that many of the telegrams offered contributions.

He said a number of major cities reported they had a huge backlog of Nixon telegrams that would arrive later.

Hood said Nixon's proposal that the public wire or write the national committee had not been prearranged or even cleared with the national committee.

Reporters were invited to read any or all of the thousands of telegrams.

Most of them appeared to be highly favorable to Nixon.

Stevenson Aides

a Congressional committee investigation of the Stevenson fund collection in attempt to disclose who contributed the money and how it was spent.

Stevenson earlier had said none of the recipients was an elected office holder or office seeker. He said the fund was aimed at relieving the financial strain of men who had given up high salaried jobs in business and industry to go into state service at much less.

Other Fund Cited

The Chicago Tribune said Flanagan had told newsmen of another special fund, made up of contributions, to defray some travel and other expenses during Stevenson's term as governor. He is ending his first four-year term.

The Tribune also said Flanagan acknowledged that the late James Mulroy, manager of Stevenson's campaign for governor, had received a monthly list of persons and firms doing business with the state. The newspaper said Flanagan related this was for a check on the purchasing agent. The Tribune said Flanagan denied it was used in any way to obtain contributions to the fund.

Accuses Stevenson

In Springfield, Ill., Morton H. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Republican state central committee, accused Stevenson and Fred K. Hoehler, state welfare department director, of payroll padding in the department. The department supervises the state's mental hospitals and welfare institutions.

Hollingsworth said the number of employes in the department's general office increased from 186 in January, 1949, to 258 on July 1 this year.

Hoehler, who termed Hollingsworth's statement "irresponsible," said "there isn't any payroll padding."

Special Study Is Made of Help by Outside Sources

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—A special Justice Department examination of federal laws in relation to "outside financial help" received by public officials is under way amid considerable confusion as to how it got started.

A White House secretary said at first that it was President Truman who originated the idea in connection with the $18,000 expense account provided Sen. Richard Nixon by California supporters. But two hours later the secretary said he had been wrong.

At the Justice Department, where a crisp "no comment" greeted all inquiries about the undertaking, the indications were that the project was an extension of Atty.-Gen. McGranery's apparent policy of "doing something" about everything the comes up within his jurisdiction.

Not Yet Admitted

The department itself has not as yet officially admitted any inquiry into the matter of supplemental funds for federal officers. However, shortly after it became known that McGranery had directed aides to study the statutes in this connection, a White House secretary told reporters that President Truman had asked the attorney general to look into the matter of Nixon's supplemental funds.

A few hours later the same secretary announced he had been mistaken, that the White House had given no directive to the Justice Department.

"There has been no White House intervention at all," he said.

However, it was learned that Nixon's speech of last night leaving to the Republican campaign managers the question of whether he will continue as the GOP candidate for vice president made no difference in the study project.

Of Whole Question

These sources emphasized that what was underway was not an investigation of Nixon himself, or his special funds, but a broad study into the whole question of non-government financial support for persons in public office.

The study relates to two sections of the U. S. Criminal Code.

One of these forbids the receipt of any salary by a government official or employe from non-government sources in connection with government business on pain of $1,000 fine or six months imprisonment or both. The same penalty applies to individuals or groups contributing to such "outside" salary.

Government attorneys point out that the terms "government official or employe" do not ordinarily apply to representatives and senators sent to Congress by the individual states.

The code contains an entirely separate section which forbids any payment to members of Congress for the purpose of influencing official actions.

The penalty, in this case, involves fines three times the amount of money involved, three years imprisonment, forfeiture of office, and perpetual disqualification from holding Federal office.

Telegrams Swamp

it would upset the ticket, if he doesn't it weakens the corruption issue."

Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York called Nixon's Los Angeles talk "a superb statement by a man of shining integrity and great purpose in the service of his country."

Rep. Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat, said at an Oklahoma City rally: "Nixon fanned out. He struck out when he didn't say what the fund was for. * * * The best service the Republican party could do would be to accept his resignation."

Sen. Joseph McCarthy, controversial Republican senator from Wisconsin, said "it was a great speech and I believe it clearly vindicates Dick Nixon in the eyes of the nation."

May Be More Popular

Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican: "He may wind up more popular than ever—people will sympathize with him knowing he's a poor man, even though some of them may not approve of the fund."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois Republican: "Nixon's speech will go deep into the hearts of the American people. * * * I wonder if the candidates on the other side will do likewise and clarify the charges levelled at them."

The public reaction was spontaneous and dramatic in every nook and corner of the country.

Kansas City reported some women were crying as they telephoned newspapers and radio stations for information about how to address wires to Nixon. Three women in Rochester, N. Y., said Nixon should be running for president, not vice-president.

In traditionally Democratic Texas, newspapers and telegraph offices in larger cities were swamped. The Dallas GOP headquarters reported 700 calls in an hour. Western Union Manager P. A. Hoag of San Antonio said about 500 early messages sent all favored Nixon. GOP national committeeman Jack Porter of Houston said he was confident the Democratic leaders "now wish they had never heard of the Nixon fund."

Albuquerque, N. M., Western Union said only two of an estimated 300 telegrams there expressed anti-Nixon sentiments.

An unusual reaction was that—despite the fact that a fund caused Nixon's present plight—many wanted to donate money to help him out. In St. Louis, for example, many called the Globe-Democrat asking where they could send contributions to the "Nixon Fund."

graduates. The aim is to help men and women in retirement make more fruitful use of the years which can be made creative and an exciting experience in study and avocation.

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College from whose Summer institute the idea grew, who spoke Tuesday at a preview reception for more than 100 guests and representatives of the press, said the wisdom and tolerance in old folk, plus their experience, demands that they not be shelved.

Woman, 77, Is First

The first "freshman" to enroll in the new "college" is Miss Mary DeLaney, 77, of Kansas City, Mo. Miss DeLaney, who is a retired teacher, and was present at the reception. The first class will consist of 10 persons, who will live, study and enjoy themselves amidst the scenic grandeur of the mid-Hudson Highlands. As the necessary remodeling and refurnishing of the buildings continues, facilities will be made available for 20 more students.

Located on Ladd Estate

The Cold Spring Project will utilize the facilities of the estate of the late William Sargent Ladd, who was dean of Cornell University Medical College in New York. Mrs. Ladd is the founder of the Walt Foundation, which in turn has sponsored the Cold Spring Project.

"The need for such an experiment," Mrs. Ladd said in her opening remarks at the reception, "has arisen because the proportionate number of older persons in today's population has arisen 39 per cent in the last two decades. Medical Science has given these people greater vigor and longer life while society has almost without exception insisted upon their retirement at the age of 65 or even younger.

"Society must learn to utilize the resources of these increasingly various people, Mrs. Ladd continued, "and here at Cold Spring we intend to make it possible for a selected group to find out for themselves how they wish to pass their remaining 15 or 20 years."

Outlines Program

Dr. Andrus outlined the program for the residents, which may be taken in periods of three, six, nine or 12 months. The curriculum and all other activities are geared to the interests and capabilities of the older person. In this respect as in many others, Dr. Andrus stressed, the experiment will be unique because gerontologists and geriatricians—experts in the field of old age—still have much to learn about the characteristics and potentialities of older people.

"Since the general plan is a cooperative effort to work out the problems of the mature in years and experience," Dr. Andrus said, "students will be expected to contribute as much as the faculty to the shape the studies will take. Each resident will be aided in working out a balanced program which may include an individual enterprise in one or more of the arts, scholarly studies or scientific activities."

Intellectual Phases

Group study and lectures on the growth of human development, human relations in modern society, current political and economic trends, international relations and literature are included in the intellectual phases of the curriculum. Courses and lectures will also be available in music, writing and the arts. Expert faculty guidance from nearby Vassar, Sarah Lawrence and Yale will be available weekly. A permanent part-time staff will consist of a physician, Dr. Emerson Day; a psychiatrist, Dr. Grace Baker; and the consultant in education, Dr. Langmuir.

Other opportunities will be offered in the scientific laboratories, in photography, handicrafts and shop work, and in the extensive farm facilities right on the campus. Special classes in rhythms, posture and movement will be held, especially suited to the needs of later years. Dr. Andrus stressed the flexibility of the program, adding that it would develop in accordance with the needs of the residents.

It is expected that the project will be self-supporting.

Full annual tuition fees are scaled down for shorter terms. It is also expected that partial scholarship funds will be available.

Applicants must hold college degrees, and must be 60 years of age or more. Their spouses, provided they are more than 50, also may be admitted.

Caravan Visits Dutchess

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—A Democratic women's "Cracker Barrel Caravan" toured Dutchess county today in behalf of the party's presidential candidate, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois. Democratic state headquarters here said the caravan expected to visit each of New York's 62 counties over a three-week period.

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—A special Justice Department examination of federal laws in relation to "outside financial help" received by public officials is under way amid considerable confusion as to how it got started.

A White House secretary said at first that it was President Truman who originated the idea in connection with the $18,000 expense account provided Sen. Richard Nixon by California supporters. But two hours later the secretary said he had been wrong.

At the Justice Department, where a crisp "no comment" greeted all inquiries about the undertaking, the indications were that the project was an extension of Atty.-Gen. McGranery's apparent policy of "doing something" about everything the comes up within his jurisdiction.

Not Yet Admitted

The department itself has not as yet officially admitted any inquiry into the matter of supplemental funds for federal officers. However, shortly after it became known that McGranery had directed aides to study the statutes in this connection, a White House secretary told reporters that President Truman had asked the attorney general to look into the matter of Nixon's supplemental funds.

A few hours later the same secretary announced he had been mistaken, that the White House had given no directive to the Justice Department.

"There has been no White House intervention at all," he said.

However, it was learned that Nixon's speech of last night leaving to the Republican campaign managers the question of whether he will continue as the GOP candidate for vice president made no difference in the study project.

Of Whole Question

These sources emphasized that what was underway was not an investigation of Nixon himself, or his special funds, but a broad study into the whole question of non-government financial support for persons in public office.

The study relates to two sections of the U. S. Criminal Code.

One of these forbids the receipt of any salary by a government official or employe from non-government sources in connection with government business on pain of $1,000 fine or six months imprisonment or both. The same penalty applies to individuals or groups contributing to such "outside" salary.

Government attorneys point out that the terms "government official or employe" do not ordinarly apply to representatives and senators sent to Congress by the individual states.

The code contains an entirely separate section which forbids any payment to members of Congress for the purpose of influencing official actions.

The penalty, in this case, involves fines three times the amount of money involved, three years imprisonment, forfeiture of office, and perpetual disqualification from holding Federal office.

Telegrams Swamp

it would upset the ticket, if he doesn't it weakens the corruption issue."

Gov. Thomas Dewey of New York called Nixon's Los Angeles talk "a superb statement by a man of shining integrity and great purpose in the service of his country."

Rep. Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat, said at an Oklahoma City rally: "Nixon fanned out. He struck out when he didn't say what the fund was for. * * * The best service the Republican party could do would be to accept his resignation."

Sen. Joseph McCarthy, controversial Republican senator from Wisconsin, said "it was a great speech and I believe it clearly vindicates Dick Nixon in the eyes of the nation."

May Be More Popular

Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican: "He may wind up more popular than ever—people will sympathize with him knowing he's a poor man, even though some of them may not approve of the fund."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois Republican: "Nixon's speech will go deep into the hearts of the American people. * * * I wonder if the candidates on the other side will do likewise and clarify the charges levelled at them."

The public reaction was spontaneous and dramatic in every nook and corner of the country.

Kansas City reported some women were crying as they telephoned newspapers and radio stations for information about how to address wires to Nixon. Three women in Rochester, N. Y., said Nixon should be running for president, not vice-president.

In traditionally Democratic Texas, newspapers and telegraph offices in larger cities were swamped. The Dallas GOP headquarters reported 700 calls in an hour. Western Union Manager P. A. Hoag of San Antonio said about 500 early messages sent all favored Nixon. GOP national committeeman Jack Porter of Houston said he was confident the Democratic leaders "now wish they had never heard of the Nixon fund."

Albuquerque, N. M., Western Union said only two of an estimated 300 telegrams there expressed anti-Nixon sentiments.

An unusual reaction was that—despite the fact that a fund caused Nixon's present plight—many wanted to donate money to help him out. In St. Louis, for example, many called the Globe-Democrat asking where they could send contributions to the "Nixon Fund."

The great pyramid of Cheops in Egypt is the only survivor among the seven wonders of the ancient world.

County Woman

graduates. The aim is to help men and women in retirement make more fruitful use of the years which can be made creative and an exciting experience in study and avocation.

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College from whose Summer institute the idea grew, who spoke Tuesday at a preview reception for more than 100 guests and representatives of the press, said the wisdom and tolerance in old folk, plus their experience, demands that they not be shelved.

Woman, 77, Is First

The first "freshman" to enroll in the new "college" is Miss Mary DeLaney, 77, of Kansas City, Mo. Miss DeLaney, who is a retired teacher, and was present at the reception. The first class will consist of 10 persons, who will live, study and enjoy themselves amidst the scenic grandeur of the mid-Hudson Highlands. As the necessary remodeling and refurnishing of the buildings continues, facilities will be made available for 20 more students.

Located on Ladd Estate

The Cold Spring Project will utilize the facilities of the estate of the late William Sargent Ladd, who was dean of Cornell University Medical College in New York. Mrs. Ladd is the founder of the Walt Foundation, which in turn has sponsored the Cold Spring Project.

"The need for such an experiment," Mrs. Ladd said in her opening remarks at the reception, "has arisen because the proportionate number of older persons in today's population has arisen 39 per cent in the last two decades. Medical Science has given these people greater vigor and longer life while society has almost without exception insisted upon their retirement at the age of 65 or even younger.

"Society must learn to utilize the resources of these increasingly various people, Mrs. Ladd continued, "and here at Cold Spring we intend to make it possible for a selected group to find out for themselves how they wish to pass their remaining 15 or 20 years."

Outlines Program

Dr. Andrus outlined the program for the residents, which may be taken in periods of three, six, nine or 12 months. The curriculum and all other activities are geared to the interests and capabilities of the older person. In this respect as in many others, Dr. Andrus stressed, the experiment will be unique because gerontologists and geriatricians—experts in the field of old age—still have much to learn about the characteristics and potentialities of older people.

"Since the general plan is a cooperative effort to work out the problems of the mature in years and experience," Dr. Andrus said, "students will be expected to contribute as much as the faculty to the shape the studies will take. Each resident will be aided in working out a balanced program which may include an individual enterprise in one or more of the arts, scholarly studies or scientific activities."

Intellectual Phases

Group study and lectures on the growth of human development, human relations in modern society, current political and economic trends, international relations and literature are included in the intellectual phases of the curriculum. Courses and lectures will also be available in music, writing and the arts. Expert faculty guidance from nearby Vassar, Sarah Lawrence and Yale will be available weekly. A permanent part-time staff will consist of a physician, Dr. Emerson Day; a psychiatrist, Dr. Grace Baker; and the consultant in education, Dr. Langmuir.

Other opportunities will be offered in the scientific laboratories, in photography, handicrafts and shop work, and in the extensive farm facilities right on the campus. Special classes in rhythms, posture and movement will be held, especially suited to the needs of later years. Dr. Andrus stressed the flexibility of the program, adding that it would develop in accordance with the needs of the residents.

It is expected that the project will be self-supporting.

Full annual tuition fees are scaled down for shorter terms. It is also expected that partial scholarship funds will be available.

Applicants must hold college degrees, and must be 60 years of age or more. Their spouses, provided they are more than 50, also may be admitted.

"I realize that your early plans for a hand may have to be altered as the play goes on," writes a Tulsa correspondent, "but my trouble is that I cannot choose my early plan. For example, I was recently dealt the following hand:

"Joker J-J 9-9-9 7-7 4-4 3

"The pack was born frozen, and the initial meld was 90 points for both sides. I couldn't make up my mind whether or not to meld at my first opportunity. One of the players said my course should have been very clear.

"Is that correct? If so, what should I have done?"

Yes, your course should have been clear at the beginning of the hand. You should have gone along without melding, hoping to get the discard pile in short order.

When you have the count and four or more pairs, you have a very good chance to win the pile. For the first few rounds, at any rate, that should be your goal.

You must give up if somebody else takes the pile or if you suddenly develop too many cards of the same rank. For example, suppose you are dealt the hand already cited. You draw another jack, and discard the black three.

Now you have two triplets and two pairs. Next you draw another nine, and you decide to release a seven as the safest discard. You then draw a fourth jack.

By this time, with two four-card bases and only one other pair, your hand has changed its character. It is now better for melding out than for winning the discard pile. Your best bet is to put down the four jacks and the four nines, adding the joker to whichever your partner is more likely to hold. If your partner can complete a canasta, you should meld out very quickly.

In general, your first plan for a hand depends on its "type." With several pairs and the count, you play to win the discard pile. With your meld concentrated in one or two ranks, you try to meld out quickly. These are the clear cases.

Many hands are not so clear-cut. You must play along without committing yourself to any definite course, hoping that the cards you pick up will clarify the situation for you. If you hand continues to give you no definite clue, base your course on what your partner seems to want.

Fourth Dies of Polio

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 24 (AP)—Polio has struck the Leo B. Linnemanstons family its fourth fatal blow in nine days. Barbara, 13, died last night. On Sept. 13, the Linnemanstons took a drive in the country with the seven of their eight children who lived at home. They were looking forward to the time when their oldest, John, 20, a marine, could rejoin them. The next day, Sunday, 16-year-old Paul was hopitalized with bulbar polio. He died on Monday, the day his sister Lorraine, 4, became ill. Lorraine died Tuesday. Mary Ann was stricken on Thursday, the day of Paul and Lorraines' double funeral.

Mrs. Short Named Truman Secretary

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Beth Campbell Short went to work at the White House today in a brand new government job for a woman.

The 44-year-old former newspaper reporter took over an $18,000 a year post as one of President Truman's three secretaries.

Her job will be to handle the major share of the President's correspondence, including hundreds of letters that must be carefully and painstakingly worded.

Mrs. Short is the widow of Joseph Short, Truman's press secretary, who died suddenly of a heart ailment last Thursday. She is the first woman ever to hold the job of presidential secretary and the first woman ever to hold a top White House staff post.

Scientists believe the world is gradually growing warmer.

In stock car races words and claims mean nothing. You can see the make of car you drive compete with the make of car your neighbor drives. Only the results count. When you look at the record you know which car is best.

This year to date, Hudsons, just like those you can buy from us, have won 35 out of 39 stock car races, an all-time record unequalled by any other car on earth.

And how does this help you buy a family car? Well, for example . . .

It proves that Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design—with America's lowest center of gravity—gives you hug-the-road stability, sureness of handling and safety unequalled by any other car.

It proves that Hudson's famous high-compression engines deliver the terrific kind of power you need to get out of tight spots and command the road in any situation.

It proves that Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame* is the most rugged and by far the safest construction on the road today.

All these qualities are yours in a Hudson—for your pleasure, your pride and your protection. And finally, you don't have to see a stock car race to see Hudson's sleek, streamlined beauty.

Drop in and drive a Hudson, or telephone us and we'll pick you up at your door. You've a thrill coming.

*Trade-mark. Patents pending.

Taft Won't Take Place of Nixon

Dayton, O., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Dayton Journal Herald last night quoted Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio as saying he was not considering the possibility of being the Republican vice presidential candidate should Sen. Richard Nixon be removed from the ticket.

The newspapers said one of its reporters interviewed Taft at Cincinnati via telephone after the controversy over Nixon's $18,235 expense account. The Dayton paper said Taft, when asked if he might be the running mate of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee, should Nixon be replaced, replied he wasn't thinking in such terms.

Taft also was quoted as saying he would have chosen Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur as his running mate if he had been given the presidential nomination.

To Summon General As Grammer Witness

Baltimore, Sept. 24 (AP)—Attorneys for George Edward Grammer, accused of killing his wife and trying to make it look like an accident, have summoned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to appear as a character witness in the murder trial beginning Oct. 6.

Anthony S. Federico, counsel for the 36-year-old New Yorker, said the Republican presidential candidate was among 26 witnesses called because Grammer once served in an army counter-intelligence unit which threw him into contact with Eisenhower.

Eisenhower reportedly once gave Grammer a recommendation for employment.

Federico said he expected a deputy sheriff to serve the summons on the general late Thursday when Eisenhower speaks here.

Courthouse attaches said Eisenhower probably would be excused from attending the trial because of the campaign and that a letter from him would be acceptable.

Dorothy May Grammer, 33, was found dead in her car after it careened down a hilly road in North Baltimore. It first appeared she died from injuries suffered in the crash of her car at the bottom of the hill, but medical examination later showed she had been fatally injured before the crash.

Two Charged With False Statements in Purchase

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—A complaint charging two men with making a false and fraudulent statement to the Veterans Administration in obtaining a GI mortgage on a house purchased by one of them, was filed yesterday in Federal Court by U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane.

The men, Dr. Benito B. Rish, of 17 Old Jerome avenue, Yonkers, and Robert F. Hawley, of Camden, Tenn., are charged with violating a section of the U. S.code. If convicted, they could be fined $1,000 each and imprisoned for one year, Lane said.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Lawrence U. Costiglio said Hawley, a former serviceman, came to New York at Rish's behest in October, 1949, and fraudulently obtained a $1,500 mortgage for a house which Lawley allegedly told the VA he was to occupy.

However, the house was actually being bought by and is now occupied by Dr. Rish, who was not entitled of the GI Bill of Rights and could not have obtained the mortgage on his own, Costiglio said.

Mock Trial Slated For Magistrates

There will be a meeting of the Ulster County Magistrates Association at 8 p. m. Thursday at the court house at which time a mock trial will be presented, it was announced today by Justice of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Macholdt said that the mock trial, which is being prepared by Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky, was part of the association educational program.

Members of the association will meet in front of the court house at 7:30 p. m. today and will go in a body to the George M. Moylan Funeral Home, Rosendale, to pay their last respects to Justice of the Peace Leonard Albert of the Town of Rosendale who died Monday. They will meet other magistrates from the southern end of the county at the funeral home.

Gas Quells Prison Riot

Chester, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—A two hour tear gas barrage by state policemen and prison guards Tuesday night quelled a 27-hour rebellion by 300 convicts at Menard State Prison. Three inmates were injured in the riot which began at supper time Monday as prison authorities awaited the arrival this week of a legislative committee to inspect the institution. One policeman was injured slightly when a tear gas gun backfired. Warden Jerome Munie estimated damage to the prison at $5,000. Two convicts, singled out by prison authorities as ringleaders of the uprising, were placed in solitary confinement. They are William Bell, 25, a Negro serving a one-to-five year sentence for larceny, and Earl S. Hamilton of Chicago.

Gillen Tells Lions How Conservation Set-up Laws Work

The organizational set-up of the State Conservation Department as well as some lesser known facts about the Conservation Law were explained to members of the Kingston Lions Club at their Tuesday noon meeting by Philip Gillen, game protector.

The department, headed by Perry B. Duryea, is charged with managing the state's natural resources, he said. It functions through five divisions: conservation education, water power and control, parks, lands and forests, and fish and game.

There are 11 district game protectors under the fish and game division, with this district, headed by William Goodman with offices in Kingston, including Orange, Rockland, Sullivan, Dutchess and Ulster counties.

Patrols 300 Miles

Under Goodman are two assistants and 13 protectors, each of whom are on 24-hour call and work six days a week, Gillen said. The average territory of a game protector is 300 square miles.

Gillen explained the duties of the protector, stressing that they are not "cops" but more "game managers," and asked for the cooperation of his listeners in keeping this state a good place to hunt and fish.

All license money and fines collected go into the conservation fund to be used solely for fish and game work, Gillen noted, and that part of the work is self-supporting.

Canada Game Barred

Gillen suggested that a hunter never take a white handkerchief into the woods in deer season, as it might be mistaken for the tail of a deer. He also outlined various requirements for bringing into the state game that was taken outside the state, and noted that this year no game with cloven hoof may be brought in from Canada due to the prevalence of hoof and mouth disease there.

Women's Outlook Better

Boston, Sept. 24 (AP)—A noted physician says women "tolerate most of life's difficulties better than their husbands." Dr. Robert S. Palmer of the Massachusetts General Hospital said last night that as a result women are less susceptible to high blood pressure than men. In a speech before the National Fraternal Congress he offered this advice: "Let your doctor worry about your health. You will feel better, be happier and your blood pressure will be lower because you don't care what it is."

Court Closes With 35 Cases Settled

Settlement of three civil cases in County Court this morning brought the civil calendar for the September term to a close and this afternoon criminal matters will again be taken up with a closing session on Monday afternoon. Jurors were excused until Monday afternoon in anticipation of criminal matters being taken up at that time.

During the term County Judge John M. Cashin has disposed of an exceptionally large number of civil matters, clearing the calendar of over 35 civil actions. Many criminal matters have also been disposed of through pleas of guilty. No criminal case was brought to trial.

Settled today was No. 58, Edwin Tongue against Leverne Powell, an action for damages. Howard C. St. John for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant. No. 78, Saul Sobsey against William S. Jackson, negligence. Cook & Cook for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defendant. No. 95, Irwin Epstein against Emeline Windrum, negligence. Burke & Burke for plaintiff and Howard C. St. John for defendant.

In recessing court until this afternoon at 2 o'clock and excusing the jurors until Monday afternoon, Judge Cashin announced all civil matters for the term had been terminated.

Local Death Record

George Kelderhouse

Funeral services for George Kelderhouse of 399 Washington avenue were held Tuesday morning at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., with Captain Lloyd Davis of the Salvation Army officiating. Vocalists were Mrs. Charlotte Miller and Mrs. Lillian Halstead. The services were largely attended by his many relatives and friends. Bearers were Richard Kelderhouse, John Cogswell, Frank Whittaker and William Clapper, all relatives of deceased. Burial was in Montrepose Cemetery.

Mrs. Vera R. Tudoroff

Mrs. Vera Remmenikov Tudoroff, widow of Abraham Tudoroff, died yesterday at Beth El Hospital, Brooklyn, after a long illness. She had been a resident of Kingston for 33 years, and was a member of Congregation Agudas Achim, Hadassah, Daughters of Jacob, and the Hebrew School. Surviving are a brother-in-law, Louis Tudoroff of this city, and two cousins, Mrs. Ida Stoll of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Sophie Friedman of Philadelphia, Pa. Funeral will be held from the F. Daniel Halloran Funeral Home, 88 West Chester street, Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Agudas Achim Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Murphy and Geary At Frank Funeral

Two local fire officials were to attend this afternoon's funeral services for William Henry Frank, Jr., Poughkeepsie fire chief from 1918 to 1922, who died Sunday at Lake George. He was 66.

Kingston will be represented at the rites by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Fire Captain William J. Geary, both intimate friends of ex-Chief Frank, who was the last volunteer head of the department.

The Rev. Robert E. Terwilliger, PhD, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, was to have charge of today's services at 2 p. m., in the Schoonmaker funeral chapel, 73 South Hamilton street, and officiate at the grave in Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

Special Call Sent Out for Observers

Mrs. G. D. Logan, supervisor of the Kingston Observation Post, said today she had been authorized by Sherwood E. Davis civil defense director to issue a specjal call for men and women to serve as observers.

She asks that all air raid wardens to volunteer their service to the Ground Observation Corps for two hours once a week immediately. Those who are to serve may telephone Mrs. Logan at 1544 or may report at the city hall today between 5 and 9 p. m.

Gross Identifies 26

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Convicted kingpin bookmaker Harry Gross identified today as men he knew 26 of the 31 suspended policemen accused of sharing in his million-dollar-a-year graft payments. The other five were absent from the courtroom, but Gross said he knew them, too. Gross got time out from jail to come to the policemen's departmental trial. In the courtroom the prosecutor, Assistant Council Victor J. Herwitz, first read off the names of the 31 defendants and after each name asked Gross: "Do you know this man?"

Pistol Office to Close

The Ulster County Pistol Permit Bureau at the court house will be closed from September 27 until October 15. County Identification Officer Earl Conro, in charge of the office, will be absent on vacation.

Middletown Fire Razes Landmark

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A Middletown landmark—formerly the main building of the Ursuline Academy—was destroyed by fire early today.

The three-story brick building had been unoccupied since Dr. Raphael Spano, a Middletown physician, purchased the property for $75,000 last spring.

The Ursuline sisters, a Roman Catholic order, had operated the 75-year-old building and two others on the property as a parochial school for girls from 1900 until early this year when the school went out of existence.

There were reports that Dr. Spano planned to develop the property into a hospital, but he never confirmed them.

Middletown's seven fire units, one from Goshen and one from Howells fought the blaze for three and a half hours. It was discovered at 12:30 a. m. (EST). Fire Chief Lee Hunt said the origin of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Rudolph's Jewelry Store Is Renovated

Rudolph's Jewelers of 309 Wall street is now undergoing extensive renovation and redecorating, it has been announced.

B. G. Rudolph, owner of the store, said today that stock was being expanded and a new silverware department installed. The store will carry a complete line of diamonds, jewelry, silverware and watches of all types.

Rudolph pointed out that the renovation would necessitate the discontinuance of the store's optical department due to the lack of adequate space. He expressed regret that the department had to be closed and said that he hoped, at some time in the future, to be able to resume the store's optical service.

New fluorescent lighting, new floors and new showcases are being installed and the layout reorganized, it was explained. The store, of which David Mintz is manager, will be open for business during alterations.

Kiwanis Officers

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Donald E. Mumford of New York city today was elected governor of the New York District, Kiwanis International, Inc., at the final business meeting of a three-day annual convention. Lieutenant governors elected include: Bronx-Westchester Division, Dr. Morris Krantz, White Plains; Harold V. Galloway, Newburgh; Long Island East, Louis Leon, Massapequa; Long Island North, Curtis P. Elrod, Williston Park; Long Island South, Walter J. Naber, Rockville Centre; Long Island West, Bert J. Thackaberry, Maspeth, Rochester was selected as the site for the 1953 session.

Youngs Captured

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 24 (AP)—Thomas Edward Young, 34, one of the "10 Most Wanted" fugitives, and his wife were surprised and captured yesterday by FBI agents in the wild, rugged Boise National Forest. Young and his wife, Margaret Rita Young, 32, cornered in their automobile on a lonely one-way mountain road, surrendered meekly although they were heavily armed. The FBI has searched for the couple intensively since they escaped from the Fargo, N. D., jail last Dec. 27. They were held there after arraignment on charges of robbing two North Dakota post offices.

May Box Rocky Again

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, 14 hours after losing his heavyweight boxing championship and announcing he was quitting the ring, said today he will go through with the contract for a rematch with Rocky Marciano, who won the title from Walcott last night on a dramatic kayo in the 13th round.

AFL Picks St. Louis

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today selected St. Louis as next year's convention site—provided it is assured that Negro delegates will not face discrimination.

It is estimated that two out of five school children are handicapped by inadequate but almost always correctable, eyesight.

Call Red Move Failure in Germany

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Russia's effort to stall West German rearmament by making propaganda on German unity is being written off by American diplomats as a failure.

Authorities summarizing the results of an eight-note exchange between the western powers and the Soviets on Germany's future said today they were convinced the Soviets have not succeeded in creating any serious new obstacles to plans for adding German forces to the west European defense setup.

The United States, British and French embassies in Moscow yesterday delivered identical notes on the German issue to the Soviet foreign office. The exchange was started by the Kremlin last March 10 and in the intervening six months there have been a total of four note exchanges. The initial Soviet proposal was that the big four governments should meet and talk about drafting a German peace treaty and the unification of East and West Germany. The most recent note from Moscow was along substantially the same lines.

The western power position, in the identical notes which London, Paris and Washington have sent in reply, has similarly been basically the same.

Call For Free Elections

The western powers assert that if Germany is to be unified now it must be under an all-German government which must be chosen in free elections, and that therefore the initial step is to determine that conditions for free elections exist. This is the opposite of the Russian line.

Yesterday's note said that "the Soviet government has evaded this clear issue."

Western diplomats felt they were right in their initial reaction that what the Russians were really driving at from the beginning was the development of a diversionary issue which would slow down or block West German military cooperation with the western powers.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Sept. 24—Communion service will be held in the Methodist Church Sunday, Oct. 5 at 2:30 p. m. by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Pfromm.

Woman Hurt in Crash

A sedan operated by Christian Lindhurst, of 54 Charlotte Place East, headed east on Washington avenue, and a car driven west on the street by Vincent Maggiore, Jr., R.D., Kingston, were in collision at Washington avenue and Pearl street last night. Officers Raymond Wells and Francis Loeffler, reported the mishap at 7:59 p. m., and said Anna Berardi, of 18 Boulevard was slightly injured.

Four Persons Drown

Kaub, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—Four persons—a man and three women—drowned in the Rhine last night when their rowboat capsized and the river's current entangled them in a fishing net. Two other persons in the boat were rescued.

Kefauver Doubts Nixon Did Wrong

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today he doubted whether Sen. Richard Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, did anything intentionally wrong in accepting a private $18,235 expense fund.

Kefauver, who headed the Senate's crime investigating committee and later was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, made the comment to newsmen as he returned aboard the liner Independence from a trip to Europe.

"I've known Mr. Nixon both in the Senate and the House and I'd be very much surprised if he did anything wrong," Kefauver said.

The Tennessean said he himself would find it "very difficut to get by" on his senatorial income "if I didn't make some lectures and do some writing."

Caudle Says Boss

general last April a few hours after he fired Newbold Morris, government cleanup man.

Caudle was closing several days of testimony before a House judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Chelf (D.-Ky.) which is investigating the Justice Department.

He did not elaborate on McGrath's statement about the White House.

He told the committee yesterday he looks upon his dismissal by President Truman as "a grave injustice."

And he testified yesterday he has been told that this view is shared by the man who fired him—President Truman. Not so, rejoined the White House.

Gave Two Instances

Caudle, gave two sources for his information that the chief executive had a change of heart after throwing out the North Carolinian.

However, Roger Tubby, assistant White House press secretary, told reporters there was "no truth" in the assertion that Truman has changed his view.

On another part of Caudle's testimony—that White House Secretary Matthew Connelly once persuaded him to delay action on a St. Louis tax fraud case for two months—Tubby said there was no comment.

Quotes Boykin

Caudle said Rep. Boykin (D-Ala.), after a conference with Truman last March, quoted the President as saying he had "done a grave injustice" to Caudle.

He added he had received a similar report from Donald Dawson, a presidential aide who, on the eve of his dismissal, assured him "the White House is behind you 100 per cent."

The reason given for separating Caudle from his job as an assistant attorney general was that he had engaged in outside activities not compatible with his official duties.

Caudle, who reached the climax of the story of his dismissal with tears in his eyes, said he still does not understand why the President acted as he did.

U. S. Probers Turn

Communist. He denied that the teachers union is or ever was controlled by Communists.

Officer of Publishing Unit

In answer to questions, he said he was secretary-treasurer and a stockholder of the Freedom of the Press Company, which owns the Communist Party organ, the Daily Worker.

Three of the eight who refused to answer the question of possible Communist Party membership still are teachers in the New York public schools.

City regulations call for the automatic dismissal of teachers who decline to say whether they have Communist affiliations when queried by a legally-constituted body.

The Board of Education is expected to prepare dismissal cases against the three. It alrealy has started preparing cases against ten other teachers who balked at earlier subcommittee sessions.

Mildred Garvin and James Nack, both union officers and teaching in the public schools, were the two who denied Communist party membership yesterday.

The three teachers who refused to say if they were members are Irving Adler, Irving Glucksman, and Morris Seltzer.

In addition to Hendley, the others who testified yesterday were Abraham Lederman, union president; and Mrs. Rose V. Russell, Eugene Jackson, and Mrs. Clara Riva Brahdy. All are former teachers.

Drop Two Check Counts on Massell

Two check charges against Ivan Massell, 30, of 95 West Union street were withdrawn when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Massell was arrested September 15 on charges brought by John Sangi, of Glasco, for a $70 check and one by George Nichols, of this city, for $71.89. He pleaded not guilty in city court September 17 through his attorney, Elmor Nathan and the case was put over until today when it was announced that restitution had been made and the charges withdrawn.

The defendant, who conducts the Ivanhoe Distributing Company, pleaded guilty September 16 to a violation of the personal property law through failure to reveal the location of game machines. Judge Mino postponed imposition of sentence until September 30 to allow Massell opportunity to produce the machines.

Court Closes With 35 Cases Settled

Settlement of three civil cases in County Court this morning brought the civil calendar for the September term to a close and this afternoon criminal matters will again be taken up with a closing session on Monday afternoon. Jurors were excused until Monday afternoon in anticipation of criminal matters being taken up at that time.

During the term County Judge John M. Cashin has disposed of an exceptionally large number of civil matters, clearing the calendar of over 35 civil actions. Many criminal matters have also been disposed of through pleas of guilty. No criminal case was brought to trial.

Settled today was No. 58, Edwin Tongue against Leverne Powell, an action for damages. Howard C. St. John for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant. No. 78, Saul Sobsey against William S. Jackson, negligence. Cook & Cook for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defendant. No. 95, Irwin Epstein against Emeline Windrum, negligence. Burke & Burke for plaintiff and Howard C. St. John for defendant.

In recessing court until this afternoon at 2 o'clock and excusing the jurors until Monday afternoon, Judge Cashin announced all civil matters for the term had been terminated.

Murphy and Geary At Frank Funeral

Two local fire officials were to attend this afternoon's funeral services for William Henry Frank, Jr., Poughkeepsie fire chief from 1918 to 1922, who died Sunday at Lake George. He was 66.

Kingston will be represented at the rites by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Fire Captain William J. Geary, both intimate friends of ex-Chief Frank, who was the last volunteer head of the department.

The Rev. Robert E. Terwilliger, PhD, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, was to have charge of today's services at 2 p. m., in the Schoonmaker funeral chapel, 73 South Hamilton street, and officiate at the grave in Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

Special Call Sent Out for Observers

Mrs. G. D. Logan, supervisor of the Kingston Observation Post, said today she had been authorized by Sherwood E. Davis civil defense director to issue a specjal call for men and women to serve as observers.

She asks that all air raid wardens to volunteer their service to the Ground Observation Corps for two hours once a week immediately. Those who are to serve may telephone Mrs. Logan at 1544 or may report at the city hall today between 5 and 9 p. m.

Gross Identifies 26

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Convicted kingpin bookmaker Harry Gross identified today as men he knew 26 of the 31 suspended policemen accused of sharing in his million-dollar-a-year graft payments. The other five were absent from the courtroom, but Gross said he knew them, too. Gross got time out from jail to come to the policemen's departmental trial. In the courtroom the prosecutor, Assistant Council Victor J. Herwitz, first read off the names of the 31 defendants and after each name asked Gross: "Do you know this man?"

No. 2 School Closed, Lack of Heat Is Reason

Frank B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 2 on West Chestnut street, said the school was closed today because of lack of heat.

A coal-burning heating unit is being converted for the use of oil, and it was found this morning that the new unit was not ready to heat the building.

It is expected that the school would remain closed only today, the principal said.

Pistol Office to Close

The Ulster County Pistol Permit Bureau at the court house will be closed from September 27 until October 15. County Identification Officer Earl Conro, in charge of the office, will be absent on vacation.

Middletown Fire Razes Landmark

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A Middletown landmark—formerly the main building of the Ursuline Academy—was destroyed by fire early today.

The three-story brick building had been unoccupied since Dr. Raphael Spano, a Middletown physician, purchased the property for $75,000 last spring.

The Ursuline sisters, a Roman Catholic order, had operated the 75-year-old building and two others on the property as a parochial school for girls from 1900 until early this year when the school went out of existence.

There were reports that Dr. Spano planned to develop the property into a hospital, but he never confirmed them.

Middletown's seven fire units, one from Goshen and one from Howells fought the blaze for three and a half hours. It was discovered at 12:30 a. m. (EST). Fire Chief Lee Hunt said the origin of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Rudolph's Jewelry Store Is Renovated

Rudolph's Jewelers of 309 Wall street is now undergoing extensive renovation and redecorating, it has been announced.

B. G. Rudolph, owner of the store, said today that stock was being expanded and a new silverware department installed. The store will carry a complete line of diamonds, jewelry, silverware and watches of all types.

Rudolph pointed out that the renovation would necessitate the discontinuance of the store's optical department due to the lack of adequate space. He expressed regret that the department had to be closed and said that he hoped, at some time in the future, to be able to resume the store's optical service.

New fluorescent lighting, new floors and new showcases are being installed and the layout reorganized, it was explained. The store, of which David Mintz is manager, will be open for business during alterations.

Kiwanis Officers

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Donald E. Mumford of New York city today was elected governor of the New York District, Kiwanis International, Inc., at the final business meeting of a three-day annual convention. Lieutenant governors elected include: Bronx-Westchester Division, Dr. Morris Krantz, White Plains; Harold V. Galloway, Newburgh; Long Island East, Louis Leon, Massapequa; Long Island North, Curtis P. Elrod, Williston Park; Long Island South, Walter J. Naber, Rockville Centre; Long Island West, Bert J. Thackaberry, Maspeth, Rochester was selected as the site for the 1953 session.

Youngs Captured

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 24 (AP)—Thomas Edward Young, 34, one of the "10 Most Wanted" fugitives, and his wife were surprised and captured yesterday by FBI agents in the wild, rugged Boise National Forest. Young and his wife, Margaret Rita Young, 32, cornered in their automobile on a lonely one-way mountain road, surrendered meekly although they were heavily armed. The FBI has searched for the couple intensively since they escaped from the Fargo, N. D., jail last Dec. 27. They were held there after arraignment on charges of robbing two North Dakota post offices.

May Box Rocky Again

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, 14 hours after losing his heavyweight boxing championship and announcing he was quitting the ring, said today he will go through with the contract for a rematch with Rocky Marciano, who won the title from Walcott last night on a dramatic kayo in the 13th round.

AFL Picks St. Louis

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today selected St. Louis as next year's convention site—provided it is assured that Negro delegates will not face discrimination.

It is estimated that two out of five school children are handicapped by inadequate but almost always correctable, eyesight.

Call Red Move Failure in Germany

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Russia's effort to stall West German rearmament by making propaganda on German unity is being written off by American diplomats as a failure.

Authorities summarizing the results of an eight-note exchange between the western powers and the Soviets on Germany's future said today they were convinced the Soviets have not succeeded in creating any serious new obstacles to plans for adding German forces to the west European defense setup.

The United States, British and French embassies in Moscow yesterday delivered identical notes on the German issue to the Soviet foreign office. The exchange was started by the Kremlin last March 10 and in the intervening six months there have been a total of four note exchanges. The initial Soviet proposal was that the big four governments should meet and talk about drafting a German peace treaty and the unification of East and West Germany. The most recent note from Moscow was along substantially the same lines.

The western power position, in the identical notes which London, Paris and Washington have sent in reply, has similarly been basically the same.

Call For Free Elections

The western powers assert that if Germany is to be unified now it must be under an all-German government which must be chosen in free elections, and that therefore the initial step is to determine that conditions for free elections exist. This is the opposite of the Russian line.

Yesterday's note said that "the Soviet government has evaded this clear issue."

Western diplomats felt they were right in their initial reaction that what the Russians were really driving at from the beginning was the development of a diversionary issue which would slow down or block West German military cooperation with the western powers.

Woman Hurt in Crash

A sedan operated by Christian Lindhurst, of 54 Charlotte Place East, headed east on Washington avenue, and a car driven west on the street by Vincent Maggiore, Jr., R.D., Kingston, were in collision at Washington avenue and Pearl street last night. Officers Raymond Wells and Francis Loeffler, reported the mishap at 7:59 p. m., and said Anna Berardi, of 18 Boulevard was slightly injured.

Four Persons Drown

Kaub, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP)—Four persons—a man and three women—drowned in the Rhine last night when their rowboat capsized and the river's current entangled them in a fishing net. Two other persons in the boat were rescued.

Kefauver Doubts Nixon Did Wrong

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today he doubted whether Sen. Richard Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, did anything intentionally wrong in accepting a private $18,235 expense fund.

Kefauver, who headed the Senate's crime investigating committee and later was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, made the comment to newsmen as he returned aboard the liner Independence from a trip to Europe.

"I've known Mr. Nixon both in the Senate and the House and I'd be very much surprised if he did anything wrong," Kefauver said.

The Tennessean said he himself would find it "very difficut to get by" on his senatorial income "if I didn't make some lectures and do some writing."

Caudle Says Boss

general last April a few hours after he fired Newbold Morris, government cleanup man.

Caudle was closing several days of testimony before a House judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Chelf (D.-Ky.) which is investigating the Justice Department.

He did not elaborate on McGrath's statement about the White House.

He told the committee yesterday he looks upon his dismissal by President Truman as "a grave injustice."

And he testified yesterday he has been told that this view is shared by the man who fired him—President Truman. Not so, rejoined the White House.

Gave Two Instances

Caudle, gave two sources for his information that the chief executive had a change of heart after throwing out the North Carolinian.

However, Roger Tubby, assistant White House press secretary, told reporters there was "no truth" in the assertion that Truman has changed his view.

On another part of Caudle's testimony—that White House Secretary Matthew Connelly once persuaded him to delay action on a St. Louis tax fraud case for two months—Tubby said there was no comment.

Quotes Boykin

Caudle said Rep. Boykin (D-Ala.), after a conference with Truman last March, quoted the President as saying he had "done a grave injustice" to Caudle.

He added he had received a similar report from Donald Dawson, a presidential aide who, on the eve of his dismissal, assured him "the White House is behind you 100 per cent."

The reason given for separating Caudle from his job as an assistant attorney general was that he had engaged in outside activities not compatible with his official duties.

Caudle, who reached the climax of the story of his dismissal with tears in his eyes, said he still does not understand why the President acted as he did.

U. S. Probers Turn

Communist. He denied that the teachers union is or ever was controlled by Communists.

Officer of Publishing Unit

In answer to questions, he said he was secretary-treasurer and a stockholder of the Freedom of the Press Company, which owns the Communist Party organ, the Daily Worker.

Three of the eight who refused to answer the question of possible Communist Party membership still are teachers in the New York public schools.

City regulations call for the automatic dismissal of teachers who decline to say whether they have Communist affiliations when queried by a legally-constituted body.

The Board of Education is expected to prepare dismissal cases against the three. It alrealy has started preparing cases against ten other teachers who balked at earlier subcommittee sessions.

Mildred Garvin and James Nack, both union officers and teaching in the public schools, were the two who denied Communist party membership yesterday.

The three teachers who refused to say if they were members are Irving Adler, Irving Glucksman, and Morris Seltzer.

In addition to Hendley, the others who testified yesterday were Abraham Lederman, union president; and Mrs. Rose V. Russell, Eugene Jackson, and Mrs. Clara Riva Brahdy. All are former teachers.

Drop Two Check Counts on Massell

Two check charges against Ivan Massell, 30, of 95 West Union street were withdrawn when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Massell was arrested September 15 on charges brought by John Sangi, of Glasco, for a $70 check and one by George Nichols, of this city, for $71.89. He pleaded not guilty in city court September 17 through his attorney, Elmor Nathan and the case was put over until today when it was announced that restitution had been made and the charges withdrawn.

The defendant, who conducts the Ivanhoe Distributing Company, pleaded guilty September 16 to a violation of the personal property law through failure to reveal the location of game machines. Judge Mino postponed imposition of sentence until September 30 to allow Massell opportunity to produce the machines.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Sept. 24 — Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast on the Onteora Trail included the following family friends from the metropolitan area: Mr. and Mrs. M. Flad, Elmhurst; Mrs. A. Grabo, Flushing, and the Misses Clara Lohrmann and Paula Eitel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Romano of New York who began coming to Shokan 25 years ago as boarders at the Otto Grossman farmhouse, have concluded their vacation at the Rossman House in the west end.

Mrs. Theodore J. Carlson, the former Catherine H. Gebelein of Shokan, was awarded her LLB September 15, from St. John's University of Law, Brooklyn. Mrs. Carlson, who resides at Glendale and has a summer home here, is a graduate of Bushwick High School and St. Joseph's College for Women. Before beginning her law studies, she taught French and English in Froebel Academy. While at St. John's, Mrs. Carlson was a member of the student bar association, the Res Gestae, and the St. Thomas More Society. She is a member of Kappa Gamma Pi and Mercier Philosophical Society.

Edward Brace, assistant to Howard Richards of the village center, is feeling better after having been laid up with a severe attack of illness. Eddie came up from New York with Howard Friday but was obliged to take it easy over the weekend.

The Misses Vesta and Zillah Jones have returned to their home in Edgewood Park, New Rochelle, after attending a church convention here and spending a few days in the village center.

Arthur Carter who has been sick is able to get around again. Arthur for the past several years has been superintendent at the George W. Pratt place near Tonche Mountain.

Echo of Waterworks Days: Sept. 23, 1913 — Recently impounded waters of Esopus Creek and tributaries reached depth of 70 feet in new Ashokan Reservoir west basin. The water thus more than fills the gorge and creek bed in the vicinity of Olive City, and begins to spread out over lowlands and Snyder's Island at Brodhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert left town Monday for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zanis, and granddaughter, Anna Zanis, at Covington, Ky. The Ruckerts motored by way of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Cincinnati and thence over one of the Ohio river bridges into Kentucky.

The Story Behind the Headline
That is Causing a Revolution in the Television Industry

DURING THE annual All-Star Football Game on the evening of August 15, the largest TV and radio audience ever assembled for a sports event saw and heard a preview of Admiral's new 1953 television receivers. Prominently featured was a 21" table model incorporating a newly-created 21" picture tube . . . powered by Admiral's sensationally performing, all-new "DX-53" Long Distance Chassis . . . and offered at the unheard-of low price of only $199.95, including excise tax and warranties. Actually, the price of a 17" table model in other leading makes, as their advertising will show!

While we expected that this announcement would arouse public interest, not even the most optimistic forecast could have prepared us for what actually happened. Even though we had emphasized that the new models would not be available locally for several weeks, Admiral dealers everywhere were immediately deluged with customers clamoring for the new 21" set! Because the excitement continues undiminished after five weeks, we feel that the time has come to address this explanatory message to the buying public.

The Story Behind Admiral's New 21" Picture Tube

One of Admiral's battery of giant 35-foot plastic-molding presses, making TV cabinets.

Some months ago, our market research indicated that if a compact, moderately-priced set were available, 99% of TV buyers would choose a 21" screen size. We put this information before our designers and engineers as a challenge:

Design a 21" Television Receiver Compact Enough for the Smallest Home, with No Compromise in Performance, and to Sell for Less Than Two Hundred Dollars!

After exploring many possibilities, the perfect answer was found in engineering an entirely new 21" tube, even though this required investing well over a quarter of a million dollars at the outset for new tools and molds. However, the new 21" Dyna-Ray tube thus created meets our every requirement. First—it fits into a cabinet inches smaller than required for any other 21" tube, giving the required compactness with lowered cabinet cost. Second—it can be manufactured at a 40% faster rate than other 21" tubes, resulting in sizeable savings to the ultimate purchaser!

Production Rolls into High Gear

Immediately following the decision to feature the new 21" Dyna-Ray tube in our popular-priced 1953 models, we scheduled production to meet a reasonable Fall demand. When public reaction showed the modesty of our estimates, we began at once to accelerate our manufacturing operation beyond all previous records. At this moment, four great Admiral plants are working 'round the clock to overtake demand.

Production has been doubled and re-doubled, and as fast as this intensified output can be channeled to the markets of America, it will be done. To the many thousands of you who have already sought to buy these new Admiral sets, we pledge that the delay will not be a day nor an hour longer than absolutely necessary. We further promise that, by any comparison of value, you will find the waiting well worthwhile.

Vesuvius Inactive

Naples (AP) — Mt Vesuvius, the picturesque volcano known to millions of travelers, is taking its longest rest since 1631. While the 3,891-foot mountain which forms a backdrop for the beautiful Bay of Naples, continues to smolder, it has been inactive in the scientific sense since March, 1944, says Prof. Antonio Parascandola of Naples University.

Today's hand may serve both as a lesson and as a horrible example. South's bidding is the lesson, and West's is the horrible example. And when I say horrible, I'm not just whistling Dixie!

South had no trouble in making six clubs, of course. He ruffed the opening heart lead, drew the only missing trump, and led his singleton spade towards dummy.

West took the ace of spades (and a good thing, too, since otherwise South would have made an overtrick) and desperately switched to diamonds, but the jig was up. South easily won the rest of the tricks.

South's bidding was very clever. His first shrewd move was to bid only two clubs. There was no need to jump or make a take-out double. Since South had only one card in both major suits combined, there was bound to be further bidding.

West made a rather weird jump to four hearts. Two hearts would have been a reasonable bid with his hand. But the actual jump to four hearts gave South a chance to bid five clubs as though he were being pushed to it. Actually, South was happy to be pushed.

It was all right for West to suspect that South had stretched too far in bidding five clubs, but you need more than suspicion to double the opponents. West should have passed in the hope that his partner could take clear action. As it happened, however, East ran out of the double, since he knew that his hand was defensively worthless.

Now South had to pass. For all he could tell, North might be "busted," in which case a bid of six clubs might go for a bad ride. But South changed his mind when North decided to double five hearts.

North couldn't have any high clubs and was most unlikely to have a heart trick in view of the way the bidding had gone. The double was therefore based on strength in spades and diamonds, in which case the combined hands were probably good for slam at clubs.

South's reasoning was very sound, but West continued along his disastrous path by doubling again. This double was really an insult to East. Since West had already doubled five clubs he had made it plain that he hoped to set six clubs.

The double therefore shrieked aloud "Don't run out of this double, partner. I'm going to massacre this contract!"

If West had passed, East might have seen the light by taking a sacrifice at six hearts. With normal good play on both sides, East would be set only two tricks, for a loss of only 300 points.

The chances of rolling a seven in dice are one in six.

The Dutch Daughters of the Reformed Church are selling correspondence and Christmas cards showing a picture of the church.

Approximately 300 people attended the game Sunday afternoon between the New Paltz Little League Giants, league champions, and the New Paltz All-Stars at the Gardiner School grounds. The Giants won the game by a score of 17 to 16. Refreshments were served following the game.

The Town of Gardiner Civic Association met recently at the firehouse with 25 members and guests present.

Professor Charles Wagley, associate professor of Anthropology at Columbia University, was the guest speaker. He discussed his job of social anthropologist which consists of going to different parts of the world and studying languages and habits of people. Questions were asked by members and answered by Professor Wagley.

Dr. Wagley stated that even with a small attendance, it is worthwhile continuing the Civic Association.

At the next meeting September 29 at 8 p. m. at the Gardiner Firehouse, there will be films and a round table discussion. Everyone is invited.

Vesuvius Inactive

Naples (AP) — Mt Vesuvius, the picturesque volcano known to millions of travelers, is taking its longest rest since 1631. While the 3,891-foot mountain which forms a backdrop for the beautiful Bay of Naples, continues to smolder, it has been inactive in the scientific sense since March, 1944, says Prof. Antonio Parascandola of Naples University.

Today's hand may serve both as a lesson and as a horrible example. South's bidding is the lesson, and West's is the horrible example. And when I say horrible, I'm not just whistling Dixie!

South had no trouble in making six clubs, of course. He ruffed the opening heart lead, drew the only missing trump, and led his singleton spade towards dummy.

West took the ace of spades (and a good thing, too, since otherwise South would have made an overtrick) and desperately switched to diamonds, but the jig was up. South easily won the rest of the tricks.

South's bidding was very clever. His first shrewd move was to bid only two clubs. There was no need to jump or make a take-out double. Since South had only one card in both major suits combined, there was bound to be further bidding.

West made a rather weird jump to four hearts. Two hearts would have been a reasonable bid with his hand. But the actual jump to four hearts gave South a chance to bid five clubs as though he were being pushed to it. Actually, South was happy to be pushed.

It was all right for West to suspect that South had stretched too far in bidding five clubs, but you need more than suspicion to double the opponents. West should have passed in the hope that his partner could take clear action. As it happened, however, East ran out of the double, since he knew that his hand was defensively worthless.

Now South had to pass. For all he could tell, North might be "busted," in which case a bid of six clubs might go for a bad ride. But South changed his mind when North decided to double five hearts.

North couldn't have any high clubs and was most unlikely to have a heart trick in view of the way the bidding had gone. The double was therefore based on strength in spades and diamonds, in which case the combined hands were probably good for slam at clubs.

South's reasoning was very sound, but West continued along his disastrous path by doubling again. This double was really an insult to East. Since West had already doubled five clubs he had made it plain that he hoped to set six clubs.

The double therefore shrieked aloud "Don't run out of this double, partner. I'm going to massacre this contract!"

If West had passed, East might have seen the light by taking a sacrifice at six hearts. With normal good play on both sides, East would be set only two tricks, for a loss of only 300 points.

The chances of rolling a seven in dice are one in six.

Mr. Roberts Here Monday, Sept. 29

Kingston will be one of the major cities to see the New York company of the Broadway laugh champion, Mister Roberts, which brings its elaborate production and large cast to the Broadway Theatre, for one performance, Monday night, Sept. 29, at 8:30.

Tod Andrews is the star of the show, with 35 others aboard the U. S. Navy cargo-carrying vessel which will be reproduced in spectacular fashion on the local stage.

Praised by Walter Winchell as "the funniest show in 10 years," Mister Roberts is an outspoken play. Its characters and its language are rough and tough, but its scenes are replete with moments of great tenderness and its purpose is legitimate realism and not merely an attempt to shock an audience.

Thomas Heggen wrote the best-seller which Joshu Logan turned into a play and which he directed. Jo Mielziner did the settings and Leland Hayward produced the play which ran three years before starting this nationwide tour of the United States and Canada.

Average Family Pays

Editor, The Freeman:

I want to congratulate the Kingston Daily Freeman for giving front page publicity to your editorial "Heavy Load on Average Family" last Saturday.

Many people still believe that the rich pay most of our taxes and that "Federal Grants" and "State Aid" is money taken from the rich and given to the needy. Few realize that these grants are just a fraction of the funds collected in various forms of taxation. Few realize that they, the average family with small or moderate means, pay the bulk of these taxes.

It is only by making the average citizen realize that he is paying most of the bill that he will try to do something about it, and I cannot think of a better way of doing this than through fair and impartial newspaper publicity.

Again, my hat off to the Freeman. I hope you will continue along these lines.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In mentioning the news item in the 1884 Freeman about Vogel's of 92 Abeel street selling Canadian horses, Lester Vogel said he had a number of other items about those days. As far as he recollects the Vogel family own the homestead on Abeel street some 90 years. In the days when horses were everyone's pride and joy, the Vogels paid Dr. John A. Huhne, a veterinarian a $100 a year to take care of their horses. Ben Johnston's drug store used to supply the medicines which cost sometimes more. A good horse got good care if he had a good owner. The Vogels also owned a very special dog, which took great interest in the horse selling business. Lester told me, that, when a horse was sold and was trotted out by its new owner to some place like Stone Ridge or Highland or somewhere else, Charlie, the dog, always went along. When he saw that the horse had finally arrived to his new destination, he would take off and come right home to the Vogels, all alone. He knew his way back from anywhere, like a carrier pigeon.

Remember the story I told some time ago in this column, about Ginger, the dog which was attached to one of the fire stations. Ginger would see that no one but a member of the fire department touched any of the equipment. The story at the time was told me by George Canfield. I am sure there must be other stories of smart dogs which tried to do their share of good for their owners. The late Joe Adin, the milkman, owned a horse which knew where all his customers lived. When Joe would take the milk around to the back of the house the horse would trot to the next destination. The horse also knew the last house on the route, and once Joe dropped the milk off there, the horse took off to his barn. He never even gave Joe a chance to stop and talk to anyone. He knew his day was done and it was time to have his meals in his own barn and rest. Joe also had a discarded fire horse. It once belonged to the local fire department and as they say, "Once a fireman, always a fireman." When that horse would hear the clang-clang of the fire bells he would get very nervous and want to take off. One day, Joe Adin had his horse down at Wetterhahn's place on Abeel street and right across the street is one of the fire departments, just then the bells rang, and out came the team of horses and with them went Joe Adin's horse and milk truck. They paced each other for blocks. It didn't do the milk bottles any good.

Some animals become so accustomed to their surroundings and habits of those around them that they want to and are able to make themselves useful. I am sure there must be more stories about such horses and dogs, and perhaps even other animals. I remember Charlie our mailman had a dog which used to wait for him on a certain corner every day and walk the route with him. They both were written up. Rabbi Rappaport had a dog called, Nimrod, which loved ice cream. When I used to visit around there in the summer, and Nimrod heard the ice cream truck, he'd come after me and pull at my clothes to buy a malted milk stick.

Remember the story I told some time ago in this column, about Ginger, the dog which was attached to one of the fire stations. Ginger would see that no one but a member of the fire department touched any of the equipment. The story at the time was told me by George Canfield. I am sure there must be other stories of smart dogs which tried to do their share of good for their owners. The late Joe Adin, the milkman, owned a horse which knew where all his customers lived. When Joe would take the milk around to the back of the house the horse would trot to the next destination. The horse also knew the last house on the route, and once Joe dropped the milk off there, the horse took off to his barn. He never even gave Joe a chance to stop and talk to anyone. He knew his day was done and it was time to have his meals in his own barn and rest. Joe also had a discarded fire horse. It once belonged to the local fire department and as they say, "Once a fireman, always a fireman." When that horse would hear the clang-clang of the fire bells he would get very nervous and want to take off. One day, Joe Adin had his horse down at Wetterhahn's place on Abeel street and right across the street is one of the fire departments, just then the bells rang, and out came the team of horses and with them went Joe Adin's horse and milk truck. They paced each other for blocks. It didn't do the milk bottles any good.

Some animals become so accustomed to their surroundings and habits of those around them that they want to and are able to make themselves useful. I am sure there must be more stories about such horses and dogs, and perhaps even other animals. I remember Charlie our mailman had a dog which used to wait for him on a certain corner every day and walk the route with him. They both were written up. Rabbi Rappaport had a dog called, Nimrod, which loved ice cream. When I used to visit around there in the summer, and Nimrod heard the ice cream truck, he'd come after me and pull at my clothes to buy a malted milk stick.

Shells and Bells

Sea shells take the place of church bells in Kyoto, Japan, where Shinto priests call the people to worship by blowing into giant couchs, which produce a sound similar to that of a foghorn.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Fisher, 197 E. Chester street, James H. Fisher has enrolled as a freshman in the College of Commerce at the University of Alabama, University, Ala. He was graduated from Kingston High School in June of this year.

Benedictine Alumnae to Meet

The Benedictine Hospital Alumnae Association will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday at 8 p. m. in the nurses' home. All members are urged to attend as important business will be discussed.

Mrs. Jeanette Martino, captain of the merchandise club, requests that all captains be present.

Marbletown Auxiliary Installs Officers, Hears Annual Report

The American Legion Auxiliary of Town of Marbletown Post held its regular monthly meeting September 18 in St. Peter's Parish Hall, Stone Ridge. The officers for the ensuing year were installed by Mrs. Stanley Matthews, past department president, in an impressive services. The Legion members were guests at the installation and the social hour which followed.

The new officers are Mrs. Isaac Graham, president; Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, first vice-president; Mrs. Robert Sutton, second vice-president; Mrs. Edward Muller, secretary; Mrs. Ernest Jansen, treasurer; and Mrs. Frank Altieri, chaplain.

Summarizes Year's Work

Mrs. Altieri, retiring president, gave a brief summary of the year's work. Highlights in her talk included trips to Castle Point Veterans' Hospital at which times gifts of cigarettes, puzzles, books, gum, apples, cards and stamps were taken. Gifts valued at over $75 were sent to the hospital for the Christmas gift shop program. These gifts were all new and included Christmas wrappings so that each hospitalized veteran could have one to send home to his loved ones as a holiday present. Valentine Day and Easter cards were also sent to the hospital for their use. Such projects were financed primarily by the money raised in the May Poppy Drive which the community so generally supported.

Under Americanism, a new American flag and standard for the assembly hall was presented to the Marbletown Central School at commencement exercises. The Auxiliary sponsored and financed a girl to Girls' State program which was held at Skidmore College the end of June. Miss Shirley Pratt of Stone Ridge was chosen because of her outstanding qualities of citizenship and leadership.

The Auxiliary also sponsored a Poppy Poster contest in the schools of the town and one of the winners, John Kuhlmann, won first prize in a similar county contest.

Approximately $150 worth of aid was spent toward child welfare work under the leadership of the chairman, Mrs. George Williams. Redeemable coupons were collected and the receipts used toward scholarships for needy girls desiring to become nurses. It was felt that this project might aid in the critical nurse shortage by making it financially possible for deserving girls to enter the profession. White linen was collected and turned over to the Cancer Society for bandages, and $13 donated toward cancer work at Memorial Hospital. Donations were also made to other worthwhile drives, such as cerebral palsy, polio, and others.

Future Plans

Plans were started for the annual baked ham supper which is to be held on Election Day. Another merchandising club will be started soon.

All eligible women are invited to join the Auxiliary at this time as the annual membership drive is on. "The satisfaction that comes to one for service to the veterans who so willingly gave their service when needed is ample reward for the membership obligations of the American Legion Auxiliary," said Mrs. Altieri.

Women's Democratic Club Hears Speakers

Guest speakers addressed members and friends of the Ulster County Women's Democratic Club at its meeting last Thursday evening in McCabe's restaurant, and at the third annual picnic held Sunday in Forsyth Park.

William F. Hogan, Democratic candidate for state senator, 34th district, a former administrative officer of the office of Price Stabilization; and Thomas Plunket, county chairman, were the speakers on Thursday evening.

Emphasizing the increased role being played by women in politics, Miss Elsie Jensen of Los Angeles, Cal., the principal speaker on Sunday, urged those present to take "active part in one political party or the other, for it is in this way only that we keep the American government in the hands of the people."

Democratic candidates from the area for local state and national offices were presented during the afternoon.

Mrs. Raymond McAndrew, newly installed president, has appointed committee chairmen to serve for the ensuing year. They are Mrs. J. Addison Freer, chairman for the rummage sale to be held in October; Mrs. Frank Jablonski, membership; Mrs. Thomas Plunket, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Joseph Roach, publicity.

The club's next meeting will take place at 8 p. m. on Thursday, Oct. 16, in McCabe's.

Fair Street Nursery Plans Parents Night

The Fair Street Nursery School of 209 Fair Street has planned its first Parents Night of the school year for Thursday, Sept. 25, a 8 p. m. in the school house. This is to be an orientation meeting.

Mrs. Gorge Dingee, president of the Board of Directors, will present pertinent information for the parents affecting the success of the present school year. As the by-laws of the school provide that a parent in each session is to be privileged to sit on the school board, this election will be held during the evening.

The highlights of the evening will be an address by Dr. Elbert MacFadden, on a topic of his choosing. During the social time following, parents will have opportunity to get to know each other better. The refreshment committee comprises Mrs. Sherwood Davis, Mrs. John Henry Martin, Mrs. Raymond Mino and Mrs. Glyn Southard.

Parents Nights, according to those in charge, have proved to be successful during the first two years of the school's history, "because of the large attendance of both fathers and mothers and the fact that programs were within the areas of interest of the parent group."

COMPLIMENTS NOT BAD MANNERS

A reader asks: "Is it considered bad manners to comment on the appearance of a friend, or even an acquaintance, before other people? I love clothes and whenever I see something attractive on a friend, I will say, 'What a lovely dress you have on' or 'How pretty your hat is.' Just recently I made some such remark and was told by a friend that it was in very bad taste. I would very much like to have your opinion on this."

I see nothing wrong in making an admiring comment when it is true! Habitual flattery regardless of sincerity is in bad taste.

Initialed Handkerchiefs

Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend and I have had a slight disagreement regarding an initial on men's handkerchieves, shirts, etc. He claims the correct initial is the last one and I say it is the first initial. Will you please advise which one of us is correct?

Answer: He is. John Smith's things are marked "S"—or preferably "J.S."

Announcing Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: I expect to announce my engagement shortly in the newspaper but am puzzled as to the correct wording. Both of my parents are dead and I have no close relatives here who could make the announcement. Will you please tell me the correct form to use under these circumstances?

Answer: The announcement is worded: "Miss Mary Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, and Mr. John Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Jones, announce their engagement. The wedding will take place in the near future."

Tipping Chambermaid

Dear Mrs. Post: When staying at a resort hotel, is the tip for the chambermaid given to her personally, or is it left on the dresser when vacating your room?

Answer: It should be given personally so as to be sure she receives it.

A Hearty Welcome Given New Residents At YWCA Meeting

New residents in the community were welcomed by members of the Young Women's Christian Association on Tuesday afternoon at the Y, when the Newcomers Club held its first meeting under the leadership of Mrs. Theron Culver, president. Tea was served and a program of entertainment presented.

The club has been organized to welcome and extend the hand of friendship to all new members in the community and to assist them in meeting each other as well as the older residents.

Mrs. Harold Davis, membership chairman, was at the door to greet the newcomers when they arrived. Among the new residents in attendance were Mmes. Frank Donohue, Robert Tucker, Bruce Ayer, Henry Fallerman, Glenn Van Gaasbeck and Maud Risley.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Ronald Herrick, of the well known Herrick Marionette team who presented a demonstration of puppet construction and manipulation; and Miss Connie Reppert, humorist, who presented an original skit.

"It is hoped that community residents will aid the Y in making this project a success," said Mrs. Culver. Information concerning new or prospective residents may be telephoned to Mrs. Harold Davis, 1911.

The next meeting is schduled for Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue. All women who have moved to the community recently are invited to attend the meeting.

10th 'Subway Series' Looms; Dressen May Open With Joe Black

Brooks Nail Down Ninth Flag Since Campaign of 1890

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The prospect of New York's 10th "Subway" World Series since 1921 is extremely bright today with the Brooklyn Dodgers already "in" and the New York Yankees pounding on the door.

Brooklyn provided the long-suffering fans of Flatbush their first restful sleep in three years last night as they clinched the 1952 National League pennant, their ninth since 1890.

True, the Brooks won the bunting in 1949. But during the last two years, the faithful experienced countless nightmares.

In 1950, the Phils nipped the Brooks for the pennant in the final game of the season on Dick Sisler's homer in the 10th inning.

And who can forget last year, when Bobby Thomson's almost-unbelievable homer jolted the Dodgers as no team in baseball history had been jolted.

But it's all different now. The sun shines bright in Brooklyn once more, and Dodge fans walk around with heads high.

Rutherford Is Winner

The Brooks nailed it last night as Johnny Rutherford, pitched "Dressen's Dandies" to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Phils won the anti-climactic second game, 1-0, in 12 innings.

Rutherford's seven-hit triumph gave Brooklyn 95 victories and made it impossible for the second-place New York Giants to pull another miracle. The Giants have 88 victories and only six games remaining.

The Yanks, meanwhile, moved 1½ games ahead of Cleveland in the American League struggle without lifting a bat. While the Bombers were rained out in Boston, the Indians were ambushed by the Chicago White Sox, 10-1.

New York can assure itself of no worse than a tie for the flag by winning only three of its remaining six games. Both the Yanks and Indians have each won 90 games but the Indians have lost three more.

The Yanks take on the Red Sox in a doubleheader today while Cleveland tangles with the White Sox again.

Shantz' Wrist Broken

A factor favoring the Yanks is that they won't have to face Bobby Shantz of the Athletics this weekend. The star Philadelphia pitcher suffered a broken left wrist in a game against Washington yesterday and is out for the rest of the season. The A's won, 4-3, as Bobo Newsom won in relief.

Joe Dobson choked off the Indians on six hits while the White Sox flayer Mike Garcia and three firemen for 14 assorted blows. Chicago climbed on Garcia for five runs in the first inning with Ed Robinson's two-run single the big blow. The Sox added two more runs in the fifth and closed out with three in the seventh, two on Sherm Lollar's two-run homer.

Snider Provides Clincher

Brooklyn was forced to come from behind to beat the Phils before 24,408 screaming fans who showed up at Ebbets Field for Rutherford for a grand-slam homer in the third to give the invaders a 4-1 lead.

The Dodgers got one back in the fourth on a four-bagger by George Shuba and locked it up against Karl Drews with three in the fifth. Pee Wee Reese singled home the first run and Duke Snider followed with a pennant-winning two-run double.

In other games, the St. Louis Browns defeated Detroit, 3-1, behind Bobby Cain and the St. Louis Cardinals nipped Cincinnati, 4-3, in 10 innings. A doubleheader between the Giants and Boston Braves was rained out. Pittsburgh and Chicago were idle.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Are Kingston's major league keglers rolling themselves out of existence?

Not as facetious a question as it seems, brother trundler.

You have before you evidence of the increasing difficult problem to create an "open" major league where the acknowledged stars of the sport in Kingston can roam at will, unfettered by handicaps and "balanced teams."

But it gets tougher every year to organize an open league. The average hot shot the Ferraros, Kemmerers, Weishaupts, Kelders, Manfros, Howards et al—won't admit it, but there aren't enough good bowlers in Kingston to assemble a respectable open league in which the element of fair competition exists from top to bottom.

Newburgh is the only city in the Hudson valley that has a major league in the strict sense of the word. But it must recruit talent from Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Monroe, Walden, Highland Falls, Cornwall and other communities.

The best Poughkeepsie has is an 875-average league and the Bridge City has three times as much bowling as Kingston.

The sharpies have their arguments against a balanced league or maximum average setup.

"Why should I spend years of practice and my good money learning this game and then give 80 or 90 per cent handicap when I roll?, he asks.

"Is it fair to ask me to give pins away to bowlers whose only interest in the game is to roll a couple of times a week, if they can pick up a lot of handicap?" he continues.

On the first score, the sharpie is absolutely correct. Why should he? The second point becomes more than just an issue of "fairness." On the contrary, the whole fabric of bowling in Kingston is based on that point.

No, we say, he shouldn't have to give away handicap every time he bowls. But, if he doesn't, where and in what league will he roll? The two "major" leagues, maybe. But both are built on a foundation of sand.

The only solution, and the inevitable showdown gets closer every year, is to break apart all the established powerhouses and set a maximum figure of no more than 920 for any team. If any sharpie finds serious objection to this setup he should, in all fairness to himself, forget the game. He won't do it, however, if he is fair and objective in his thinking about bowling.

If he will admit that there just aren't enough top-flight major leaguers in Kingston to organize a sound open league, he should realize that in all bowling leagues the "good of the game" is paramount.

Any plan, therefore, that tends to creat and develop good will and socialibility, and so make league activities more interesting to its members, should receive first consideration. This being an accepted thought, we find that leagues which operate on a handicap or classified basis are usually comprised principally of the more proficient bowlers. Except in large metropolitan centers they are fast becoming a species of the vanishing American.

From a standpoint of building interest among the lower echelons and giving intermediate keglers a place toward which to set their sights, local bowling has somehow failed despite its glorious records of the past decade. The simple truth is that we can't fast enough develop performers who could be welded into a first-class major league.

To have 10 teams pay the freight for two or three powerhouses doesn't make a major league according to the lofty precepts of the word major. And it is always well to remember that the topnotch major leaguer often takes out of bowling in prize money as much, if not more, than he puts into it.

A sensible analysis of the limitations of Kingston bowling would do much toward putting the game on a solid foundation for the future. But the concessions must come from the small group of high powered performers themselves. They must know by now that they are unwilling and unhappy victims of circumstances and things figure to get worse before they get better.

Black Bears Are Tough Sometimes

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

In these columns I have repeatedly written about the brown bears and coastal grizzlies, kings among the bruin tribe, and have usually given the smaller black bear, a third or even less of the Ursus' size and weight, the short end of the deal.

But on one point, surprisingly enough, the common black bear rates honorable recognition. He's a tough son of a gun to knock down and out.

When we spotted a fat black on the beach last spring, I happened to be carrying the heavy-calibre rifle I had intended to use on brownies. This hard hitting weapon delivered a 300-grain slug fast enough to give almost two and a half tons of energy at the gun muzzle—enough to knock the will to live out of any creature on this continent or on most others.

The shot was easy from the prone position at less than 100 yards, the cross hairs of my scope squared on the black's shoulder as I squeezed off. I was so confident that the black was kaput that I got up and started back for my camera, not even bothering to jack in another round.

"Hey, he's up again!" shouted the guide. That 300-pound bear had absorbed a two-ton wallop and was staggering around like a punchy fighter. Finishing it was easy enough; but I doubt that I would be over my amazement yet if I hadn't seen similar cases of black bear courage before.

On three earlier occasions I had seen black bear weighing between 250 and 450 pounds take the belt of bullets from strong-shooting rifles—.270, .30-06, even .300 Holland & Holland—and either not go down at all, or drop only for the count of one. This when they were hit not in the rump or the foot or some other non-vital section, but smacked squarely, in two of these cases with a shoulder broken and tremendous damage in the heart and lung areas.

Perhaps they didn't get very far, but they got up and ran when almost any other animal similarly hit—and hit when completely unaware of any danger to stimulate their adrenal glands—would have collapsed like a wet paper bag.

The nervous system of the bear family, like that of the cats, reacts instantly and violently to any bullet. It is as if a shot of nervous electricity galvanized the bear's muscles. Except on spine or brain hits, if he drops at the blow the bear bounces up again on springs, or whirls roaring to snap at the wound, or breaks into a dead run. Never have I seen in bears the stolid reaction offered by moose or mountain goats, for example, with their slower reflexes.

Some years ago I watched a rather small black bear hit square through the shoulder, the .270 calibre bullet as we discovered later fragmenting into the heart and lungs. This shot was made at certainly no more than 50 yards, so that the bear received some 2500-foot pounds of bullet energy. Yet he did not go down, but started a sprint as if the gun crack had been that of a starting pistol. True, he traveled only 30 yards or so, and very possibly was dead in a merciful instant—but what quality of toughness kept him on his feet? What reservoir of nerve power was instantly tapped to drive him in that three-legged sprint?

Hit in the same spot by the same bullet, certainly if hit by the heavier slug more fitting to his four-time greater size, a brown bear would probably have dropped to the ground.

Possessed of unbelievable vitality, he probably wouldn't have stayed there long, and his run of recovery might have well been toward the hunter's gun rather than blindly away from it—but just what have these salmon-fed black bears that makes 'em so tough sometimes?

Marciano Flattens Joe in 13th; Walcott Ahead Until Kayo Punch

Rocky Knocked Down First Time in Career

By MURRAY ROSE

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP) — Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," today held the world's heavyweight championship.

"They'll probably say he still can't fight," said trainer Charley Goldman shortly after the dynamic, 28-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the 13th round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement.

"But who's going to beat him?"

Rex Layne, Roland La Starza and former heavyweight champ Ezzard Charles may be the next ones to test the explosive fists of boxing's latest golden boy.

"It could be Layne, La Starza or Charles," said Manager Al Weill early today as he discussed the future of his all-conquering gladiator.

"Maybe it will be Walcott again," added the portly manager, "who knows? Maybe he'll change his mind and not quit."

Was Perfect Right Jab

Rocky followed with a left that grazed the stricken champion's head as the 38-year-old Walcott slowly fell to the deck. But it was the right that turned the tables just as it was Jersey Joe's one left hook that enabled him to knock the crown off Charles' head in the steaming heat of Pittsburgh on July 18, 1951.

Walcott's eyes went blank. The old guy, who put up one of the greatest fights of his long career, sank slowly to the canvas. One knee was twisted under him and his forehead rested on the floor as Referee Charley Daggert tolled ten. Then Walcott stretched out on his back before the 40,379 screaming fans.

Walcott didn't show his age as he fought a brilliant battle—until the payoff punch.

The old gent was well ahead on the scorecards of all three officials. Referee Charley Daggert had it 7-4-1; Judge Pete Tomasco scored in 7-5 and Judge Zach Taylor, who refereed Walcott's successful defense against Charles in June, saw it 8-4.

Joe Through — Manager

Thus, as he won the title, Jersey Joe lost it—with one blow.

"He's through," said Walcott's Manager Felix Bocchicchio.

The fight grossed $504,645 at the gate and theatre-television probably will add another $125,000.

On his 40 per cent, Walcott earned approximately $188,000. Rocky, cut in for 20 per cent, reaped about $94,035. Marciano, a 9 to 5 favorite, weighed 184 to Walcott's 196.

Mother of New Champ Says Prayer Was Key

During all the time Marciano was in action against Walcott, the former's mother, surrounded by her sisters and neighbors, had prayed aloud that the oldest of her three sons would gain victory and escape harm.

In the living room of the modest Marchegiano home, a Boston newspaperman was getting a blow-by-blow account of the bout by telephone from his office. But never did the mother interrupt her prayers to listen to the happenings in Philadelphia.

When the end came, the reporter broke the news to the mother in this fashion:

'Always My Champion'

"You're the mother of a new champion."

At first Mrs. Marchegiano appeared stunned by the good news. It was several minutes before she regained enough composure to reply: "He has always been my champion."

Then she lifted the prayer book she had been reading and said humbly: "I owe it all to this."

Although extremely proud of her boy's fistic success, the mother never has seen him fight, nor watched or listened to radio or television accounts of his bouts.

"I've always prayed that he would escape harm," she explained. "Tonight I prayed that he would win and enjoy the champion's rewards.

"I thank God for bringing my son victory. I know the whole world will be proud of my boy. He will make a worthy champion."

Despite the radio and television blackout of the Brockton area, the news of Marciano's 13th round knockout came faster than African jungle messages on native drums.

Only minutes after the bout's sudden end, the Marchegiano home was stormed by waves of friends and well-wishers. About 100 yards away in the Ward Two Memorial Club, which is proud of Marciano's membership, hundreds collected to toast the new champion.

Among the happiest celebrants were a group of Marciano's boyhood friends who, only a few hours before, pooled $5,000 to wager their idol would prevail at 8-5 odds. "We waited until almost the last second to get the best possible price," one of them explained.

Another estimated that almost $50,000 of the neighborhood's money had been bet beforehand.

Town Plans Party

Downtown Brockton surpassed this shoe city's V-E andV-J Day celebrations. Two hours before the bout, more than 5,000 gathered in front of the Brockton Enterprise office. Police estimated it had swollen to 25,000 before Marciano ended Walcott's reign. And when he did, bedlam reigned all over Brockton.

"You ain't seen nothun yet," a hoarsened Marciano fan predicted. "Just wait until Rocky gets home. We'll tear down the town for him. This is what we've been waiting for."

Newark, N. J.—Tony Cimmino, 145, Bayonne, N. J., outpointed Leroy Tate, 139, New York (8).

Angels, Wiltwycks Score First Wins In Autumn League

Harry's Angels and Wiltwyck Motors registered opening night victories in the YMCA Autumn Basketball League Tuesday night.

The Angels, opening with a 33-21 lead at halftime, turned back the 156th FA National Guard by 75 to 39 while Wiltwycks, thanks to a first half splurge, nosed out the "50 Club" by 57 to 50.

Juhl Is High Man

Andy Juhl, forward for the Angels, emerged from the opening night double-header attraction as individual high scorer with his 22 points. Juhl found the range for eight fields and six free throws.

Champ Holstein, former KHS star, was runnerup to Juhl with 18 points for the winners. Harry LaForge, also of the Angels, contributed 15 markers.

Jay Rider and Red Hinkley were the big guns for the losing 156th squad with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Peck Hits 17

Vince Peck led Wiltwyck Motors with 17 points in their triumph over the "50 Club." Tom Morrisey followed with 14 and Bill Kleine hit for 13.

City Leaguers Await Big Game

Hoping for a break from the weatherman, Wiltwyck Motors and Jones Dairy are primed for their "sudden death" one-game playoff to decide the City League title Sunday afternoon at Athletic Field.

The Motormen moved into the playoff berth last Sunday with a 2-0 victory over the Dairymen to capture the second half title.

Ordinarily it would require a three-game series to decide the pennant but due to the lateness of the season twilight ball is out of the question and the one Sunday afternoon tilt was mutually decided upon.

Game time Sunday is 2:05 p. m. and league officials expect the biggest turnout of the 1952 campaign to be on hand for the vital contest.

Brilliant Relief Hurler Likely to Oppose AL Entry

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, Sept. 24 (AP) — The pennant celebration over and done with, Charlie Dressen, victorious manager of the champion Brooklyn Dodgers, today began thinking ahead to the forthcoming World Series.

Chuck's biggest problem is to get his pitching alignment set for the annual October classic with the American League flag winners, be it the New York Yankees or the Cleveland Indians. The series starts Wednesday, Oct. 1, at Ebbets Field.

Brooklyn clinched the National League championship last night by winning the first game of a doubleheader from the Phillies, 5-4. Philadelphia took the second, 1-0, in 12 innings.

Rated No. 1 Hurler

"My present plans are to start Joe Black in the opening game of the World Series," Dressen stated. "Now that Joe has proved to me he can pitch nine innings, he is my No. 1 pitcher.

"If everything works out the way I hope it will," Chuck continued, "I will pitch Black in the opener and come back with Carl Erskine in the second game. The Preacher (Preacher Roe) will pitch the third game, at Yankee Stadium or Municipal Stadium."

Only the lack of a competent relief hurler on the squad, other than Black, prevented Dressen from naming his great Negro rookie (Black) as his certain first-game World Series starter.

"Much depends upon what happens today in our game with Philadelphia," Chuck said. "I'm starting Clem Labine. If he can show me he is in good form and tells me after the game that his right elbow has given him no trouble, then he'll be my No. 1 relief man in the World Series. Billy Loes figures to be my other relief pitcher.

Lauds Joe, Shuba

"That will leave me free to start Black.

"I am counting on Black to go all the way in the opener, pitch a couple of innings in relief the next day, if necessary, and then start him again with two days rest. I plan to give Joe a pre-World Series workout for six innings either Friday or Saturday.

Chuck gave the credit to all players, calling the Dodgers' victory a "team triumph," but he did single out two—Black and outfielder George Shuba—for special bouquets

"Black and Shuba were the difference between last year's and this year's team," he said. "Black saved us. He was our one-man pitching staff most of the season. We wouldn't have won without him. And if we had Shuba's bat last year, we, and not the Giants, would have won."

The players, headed by Jackie Robinson and Captain Peewee Reese praised Dressen for his great job in manipulating the shoddy pitching staff.

"You did a tremendous job with the pitching staff," Robinson told Dressen in front of the reporters. "In fact, you did a great job with the whole team. And I think everybody should know it."

10th 'Subway Series' Looms; Dressen May Open With Joe Black

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The prospect of New York's 10th "Subway" World Series since 1921 is extremely bright today with the Brooklyn Dodgers already "in" and the New York Yankees pounding on the door.

Brooklyn provided the long-suffering fans of Flatbush their first restful sleep in three years last night as they clinched the 1952 National League pennant, their ninth since 1890.

True, the Brooks won the bunting in 1949. But during the last two years, the faithful experienced countless nightmares.

In 1950, the Phils nipped the Brooks for the pennant in the final game of the season on Dick Sisler's homer in the 10th inning.

And who can forget last year, when Bobby Thomson's almost-unbelievable homer jolted the Dodgers as no team in baseball history had been jolted.

But it's all different now. The sun shines bright in Brooklyn once more, and Dodge fans walk around with heads high.

Rutherford Is Winner

The Brooks nailed it last night as Johnny Rutherford, pitched "Dressen's Dandies" to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Phils won the anti-climactic second game, 1-0, in 12 innings.

Rutherford's seven-hit triumph gave Brooklyn 95 victories and made it impossible for the second-place New York Giants to pull another miracle. The Giants have 88 victories and only six games remaining.

The Yanks, meanwhile, moved 1½ games ahead of Cleveland in the American League struggle without lifting a bat. While the Bombers were rained out in Boston, the Indians were ambushed by the Chicago White Sox, 10-1.

New York can assure itself of no worse than a tie for the flag by winning only three of its remaining six games, Both the Yanks and Indians have each won 90 games but the Indians have lost three more.

The Yanks take on the Red Sox in a doubleheader today while Cleveland tangles with the White Sox again.

Shantz' Wrist Broken

A factor favoring the Yanks is that they won't have to face Bobby Shantz of the Athletics this weekend. The star Philadelphia pitcher suffered a broken left wrist in a game against Washington yesterday and is out for the rest of the season. The A's won, 4-3, as Bobo Newsom won in relief.

Joe Dobson choked off the Indians on six hits while the White Sox flayer Mike Garcia and three firemen for 14 assorted blows. Chicago climbed on Garcia for five runs in the first inning with Ed Robinson's two-run single the big blow. The Sox added two more runs in the fifth and closed out with three in the seventh, two on Sherm Lollar's two-run homer.

Snider Provides Clincher

Brooklyn was forced to come from behind to beat the Phils before 24,408 screaming fans who showed up at Ebbets Field for Rutherford for a grand-slam homer in the third to give the invaders a 4-1 lead.

The Dodgers got one back in the fourth on a four-bagger by George Shuba and locked it up against Karl Drews with three in the fifth. Pee Wee Reese singled home the first run and Duke Snider followed with a pennant-winning two-run double.

In other games, the St. Louis Browns defeated Detroit, 3-1, behind Bobby Cain and the St. Louis Cardinals nipped Cincinnati, 4-3, in 10 innings. A doubleheader between the Giants and Boston Braves was rained out. Pittsburgh and Chicago were idle.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Are Kingston's major league keglers rolling themselves out of existence?

Not as facetious a question as it seems, brother trundler.

You have before you evidence of the increasing difficult problem to create an "open" major league where the acknowledged stars of the sport in Kingston can roam at will, unfettered by handicaps and "balanced teams."

But it gets tougher every year to organize an open league. The average hot shot the Ferraros, Kemmerers, Weishaupts, Kelders, Manfros, Howards et al—won't admit it, but there aren't enough good bowlers in Kingston to assemble a respectable open league in which the element of fair competition exists from top to bottom.

Newburgh is the only city in the Hudson valley that has a major league in the strict sense of the word. But it must recruit talent from Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Monroe, Walden, Highland Falls, Cornwall and other communities.

The best Poughkeepsie has is an 875-average league and the Bridge City has three times as much bowling as Kingston.

The sharpies have their arguments against a balanced league or maximum average setup.

"Why should I spend years of practice and my good money learning this game and then give 80 or 90 per cent handicap when I roll?, he asks.

"Is it fair to ask me to give pins away to bowlers whose only interest in the game is to roll a couple of times a week, if they can pick up a lot of handicap?" he continues.

On the first score, the sharpie is absolutely correct. Why should he? The second point becomes more than just an issue of "fairness." On the contrary, the whole fabric of bowling in Kingston is based on that point.

No, we say, he shouldn't have to give away handicap every time he bowls. But, if he doesn't, where and in what league will he roll? The two "major" leagues, maybe. But both are built on a foundation of sand.

The only solution, and the inevitable showdown gets closer every year, is to break apart all the established powerhouses and set a maximum figure of no more than 920 for any team. If any sharpie finds serious objection to this setup he should, in all fairness to himself, forget the game. He won't do it, however, if he is fair and objective in his thinking about bowling.

If he will admit that there just aren't enough top-flight major leaguers in Kingston to organize a sound open league, he should realize that in all bowling leagues the "good of the game" is paramount.

Any plan, therefore, that tends to creat and develop good will and socialibility, and so make league activities more interesting to its members, should receive first consideration. This being an accepted thought, we find that leagues which operate on a handicap or classified basis are usually comprised principally of the more proficient bowlers. Except in large metropolitan centers they are fast becoming a species of the vanishing American.

From a standpoint of building interest among the lower echelons and giving intermediate keglers a place toward which to set their sights, local bowling has somehow failed despite its glorious records of the past decade. The simple truth is that we can't fast enough develop performers who could be welded into a first-class major league.

To have 10 teams pay the freight for two or three powerhouses doesn't make a major league according to the lofty precepts of the word major. And it is always well to remember that the topnotch major leaguer often takes out of bowling in prize money as much, if not more, than he puts into it.

A sensible analysis of the limitations of Kingston bowling would do much toward putting the game on a solid foundation for the future. But the concessions must come from the small group of high powered performers themselves. They must know by now that they are unwilling and unhappy victims of circumstances and things figure to get worse before they get better.

Marciano Flattens Joe in 13th; Walcott Ahead Until Kayo Punch

Rocky Knocked Down First Time in Career

By MURRAY ROSE

Philadelphia, Sept. 24 (AP) — Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," today held the world's heavyweight championship.

"They'll probably say he still can't fight," said trainer Charley Goldman shortly after the dynamic, 28-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the 13th round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement.

"But who's going to beat him?"

Rex Layne, Roland La Starza and former heavyweight champ Ezzard Charles may be the next ones to test the explosive fists of boxing's latest golden boy.

"It could be Layne, La Starza or Charles," said Manager Al Weill early today as he discussed the future of his all-conquering gladiator.

"Maybe it will be Walcott again," added the portly manager, "who knows? Maybe he'll change his mind and not quit."

Was Perfect Right Jab

Rocky, battered and bleeding, was knocked down for the first time in his career in the first round, but came back to end one of the most exciting battles of modern times with one perfectly executed right hand blow to Walcott's jaw.

Rocky followed with a left that grazed the stricken champion's head as the 38-year-old Walcott slowly fell to the deck. But it was the right that turned the tables just as it was Jersey Joe's one left hook that enabled him to knock the crown off Charles' head in the steaming heat of Pittsburgh on July 18, 1951.

Walcott's eyes went blank. The old guy, who put up one of the greatest fights of his long career, sank slowly to the canvas. One knee was twisted under him and his forehead rested on the floor as Referee Charley Daggert tolled ten. Then Walcott stretched out on his back before the 40,379 screaming fans.

Walcott didn't show his age as he fought a brilliant battle—until the payoff punch.

The old gent was well ahead on the scorecards of all three officials. Referee Charley Daggert had it 7-4-1; Judge Pete Tomasco scored in 7-5 and Judge Zach Taylor, who refereed Walcott's successful defense against Charles in June, saw it 8-4.

Joe Through — Manager

Thus, as he won the title, Jersey Joe lost it—with one blow.

"He's through," said Walcott's Manager Felix Bocchicchio.

"Whatever Felix says I'll do," said the heart-broken ex-champion.

The fight grossed $504,645 at the gate and theatre-television probably will add another $125,000.

On his 40 per cent, Walcott earned approximately $188,000. Rocky, cut in for 20 per cent, reaped about $94,035. Marciano, a 9 to 5 favorite, weighed 184 to Walcott's 196.

City Leaguers Await Big Game

Hoping for a break from the weatherman, Wiltwyck Motors and Jones Dairy are primed for their "sudden death" one-game playoff to decide the City League title Sunday afternoon at Athletic Field.

The Motormen moved into the playoff berth last Sunday with a 2-0 victory over the Dairymen to capture the second half title.

Ordinarily it would require a three-game series to decide the pennant but due to the lateness of the season twilight ball is out of the question and the one Sunday afternoon tilt was mutually decided upon.

Game time Sunday is 2:05 p. m. and league officials expect the biggest turnout of the 1952 campaign to be on hand for the vital contest.

Brilliant Relief Hurler Likely to Oppose AL Entry

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, Sept. 24 (AP) — The pennant celebration over and done with, Charlie Dressen, victorious manager of the champion Brooklyn Dodgers, today began thinking ahead to the forthcoming World Series.

Chuck's biggest problem is to get his pitching alignment set for the annual October classic with the American League flag winners, be it the New York Yankees or the Cleveland Indians. The series starts Wednesday, Oct. 1, at Ebbets Field.

Brooklyn clinched the National League championship last night by winning the first game of a doubleheader from the Phillies, 5-4. Philadelphia took the second, 1-0, in 12 innings.

Rated No. 1 Hurler

"My present plans are to start Joe Black in the opening game of the World Series," Dressen stated. "Now that Joe has proved to me he can pitch nine innings, he is my No. 1 pitcher.

"If everything works out the way I hope it will," Chuck continued, "I will pitch Black in the opener and come back with Carl Erskine in the second game. The Preacher (Preacher Roe) will pitch the third game, at Yankee Stadium or Municipal Stadium."

Only the lack of a competent relief hurler on the squad, other than Black, prevented Dressen from naming his great Negro rookie (Black) as his certain first-game World Series starter.

"Much depends upon what happens today in our game with Philadelphia," Chuck said. "I'm starting Clem Labine. If he can show me he is in good form and tells me after the game that his right elbow has given him no trouble, then he'll be my No. 1 relief man in the World Series. Billy Loes figures to be my other relief pitcher.

Lauds Joe, Shuba

"That will leave me free to start Black.

"I am counting on Black to go all the way in the opener, pitch a couple of innings in relief the next day, if necessary, and then start him again with two days rest. I plan to give Joe a pre-World Series workout for six innings either Friday or Saturday.

Chuck gave the credit to all players, calling the Dodgers' victory a "team triumph," but he did single out two—Black and outfielder George Shuba—for special bouquets

"Black and Shuba were the difference between last year's and this year's team," he said. "Black saved us. He was our one-man pitching staff most of the season. We wouldn't have won without him. And if we had Shuba's bat last year, we, and not the Giants, would have won."

The players, headed by Jackie Robinson and Captain Peewee Reese praised Dressen for his great job in manipulating the shoddy pitching staff.

"You did a tremendous job with the pitching staff," Robinson told Dressen in front of the reporters. "In fact, you did a great job with the whole team. And I think everybody should know it."

Mother of New Champ Says Prayer Was Key

During all the time Marciano was in action against Walcott, the former's mother, surrounded by her sisters and neighbors, had prayed aloud that the oldest of her three sons would gain victory and escape harm.

In the living room of the modest Marchegiano home, a Boston newspaperman was getting a blow-by-blow account of the bout by telephone from his office. But never did the mother interrupt her prayers to listen to the happenings in Philadelphia.

When the end came, the reporter broke the news to the mother in this fashion:

'Always My Champion'

"You're the mother of a new champion."

At first Mrs. Marchegiano appeared stunned by the good news. It was several minutes before she regained enough composure to reply: "He has always been my champion."

Then she lifted the prayer book she had been reading and said humbly: "I owe it all to this."

Although extremely proud of her boy's fistic success, the mother never has seen him fight, nor watched or listened to radio or television accounts of his bouts.

"I've always prayed that he would escape harm," she explained. "Tonight I prayed that he would win and enjoy the champion's rewards.

"I thank God for bringing my son victory. I know the whole world will be proud of my boy. He will make a worthy champion."

Despite the radio and television blackout of the Brockton area, the news of Marciano's 13th round knockout came faster than African jungle messages on native drums.

Only minutes after the bout's sudden end, the Marchegiano home was stormed by waves of friends and well-wishers. About 100 yards away in the Ward Two Memorial Club, which is proud of Marciano's membership, hundreds collected to toast the new champion.

Among the happiest celebrants were a group of Marciano's boyhood friends who, only a few hours before, pooled $5,000 to wager their idol would prevail at 8-5 odds. "We waited until almost the last second to get the best possible price," one of them explained.

Another estimated that almost $50,000 of the neighborhood's money had been bet beforehand.

Town Plans Party

Downtown Brockton surpassed this shoe city's V-E andV-J Day celebrations. Two hours before the bout, more than 5,000 gathered in front of the Brockton Enterprise office. Police estimated it had swollen to 25,000 before Marciano ended Walcott's reign. And when he did, bedlam reigned all over Brockton.

"You ain't seen nothun yet," a hoarsened Marciano fan predicted. "Just wait until Rocky gets home. We'll tear down the town for him. This is what we've been waiting for."

Newark, N. J.—Tony Cimmino, 145, Bayonne, N. J., outpointed Leroy Tate, 139, New York (8).

Angels, Wiltwycks Score First Wins In Autumn League

Harry's Angels and Wiltwyck Motors registered opening night victories in the YMCA Autumn Basketball League Tuesday night.

The Angels, opening with a 33-21 lead at halftime, turned back the 156th FA National Guard by 75 to 39 while Wiltwycks, thanks to a first half splurge, nosed out the "50 Club" by 57 to 50.

Juhl Is High Man

Andy Juhl, forward for the Angels, emerged from the opening night double-header attraction as individual high scorer with his 22 points. Juhl found the range for eight fields and six free throws.

Champ Holstein, former KHS star, was runnerup to Juhl with 18 points for the winners. Harry LaForge, also of the Angels, contributed 15 markers.

Jay Rider and Red Hinkley were the big guns for the losing 156th squad with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Peck Hits 17

Vince Peck led Wiltwyck Motors with 17 points in their triumph over the "50 Club." Tom Morrisey followed with 14 and Bill Kleine hit for 13.

Roger Brandt and Johnny Burris scored 13 and 11 in that order for the losing basketeers.

Black Bears Are Tough Sometimes

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

In these columns I have repeatedly written about the brown bears and coastal grizzlies, kings among the bruin tribe, and have usually given the smaller black bear, a third or even less of the Ursus' size and weight, the short end of the deal.

But on one point, surprisingly enough, the common black bear rates honorable recognition. He's a tough son of a gun to knock down and out.

When we spotted a fat black on the beach last spring, I happened to be carrying the heavy-calibre rifle I had intended to use on brownies. This hard hitting weapon delivered a 300-grain slug fast enough to give almost two and a half tons of energy at the gun muzzle—enough to knock the will to live out of any creature on this continent or on most others.

The shot was easy from the prone position at less than 100 yards, the cross hairs of my scope squared on the black's shoulder as I squeezed off. I was so confident that the black was kaput that I got up and started back for my camera, not even bothering to jack in another round.

"Hey, he's up again!" shouted the guide. That 300-pound bear had absorbed a two-ton wallop and was staggering around like a punchy fighter. Finishing it was easy enough; but I doubt that I would be over my amazement yet if I hadn't seen similar cases of black bear courage before.

On three earlier occasions I had seen black bear weighing between 250 and 450 pounds take the belt of bullets from strong-shooting rifles—.270, .30-06, even .300 Holland & Holland—and either not go down at all, or drop only for the count of one. This when they were hit not in the rump or the foot or some other non-vital section, but smacked squarely, in two of these cases with a shoulder broken and tremendous damage in the heart and lung areas.

Perhaps they didn't get very far, but they got up and ran when almost any other animal similarly hit—and hit when completely unaware of any danger to stimulate their adrenal glands—would have collapsed like a wet paper bag.

The nervous system of the bear family, like that of the cats, reacts instantly and violently to any bullet. It is as if a shot of nervous electricity galvanized the bear's muscles. Except on spine or brain hits, if he drops at the blow the bear bounces up again on springs, or whirls roaring to snap at the wound, or breaks into a dead run. Never have I seen in bears the stolid reaction offered by moose or mountain goats, for example, with their slower reflexes.

Some years ago I watched a rather small black bear hit square through the shoulder, the .270 calibre bullet as we discovered later fragmenting into the heart and lungs. This shot was made at certainly no more than 50 yards, so that the bear received some 2500-foot pounds of bullet energy. Yet he did not go down, but started a sprint as if the gun crack had been that of a starting pistol. True, he traveled only 30 yards or so, and very possibly was dead in a merciful instant—but what quality of toughness kept him on his feet? What reservoir of nerve power was instantly tapped to drive him in that three-legged sprint?

Hit in the same spot by the same bullet, certainly if hit by the heavier slug more fitting to his four-time greater size, a brown bear would probably have dropped to the ground.

Possessed of unbelievable vitality, he probably wouldn't have stayed there long, and his run of recovery might have well been toward the hunter's gun rather than blindly away from it—but just what have these salmon-fed black bears that makes 'em so tough sometimes?

ELIMINATING "WILD TASTE" (SMALL GAME)

WOODCHUCK

SMALL SACKS OR KERNELS (GLANDS) THAT ARE FOUND ON THE INSIDE OF THE FRONT AND HIND LEGS AND SOMETIMES ELSEWHERE (AS ON A WOODCHUCK'S BACK) SHOULD BE REMOVED WHEN ANIMAL IS SKINNED. THE WHITE TO BROWNISH OBLONG GLANDS ARE LOCATED JUST UNDER THE SKIN, USUALLY IN THE FAT WHICH SHOULD ALWAYS BE REMOVED.

SOAK GAMEY MEAT IN SALT WATER OVERNIGHT. THEN, RECOVER MEAT IN COLD WATER. ADD A LEVEL TABLESPOON OF BLACK PEPPER AND ONE OF BAKING SODA. SLOWLY BRING TO A BOIL. POUR OFF LIQUID. RINSE MEAT, THEN REPEAT AGAIN. RECOVER WITH COLD WATER, PARBOIL BEFORE FRYING OR ROASTING. OR, SEASON AND STEW UNTIL TENDER.

KWBA Will Hold City Tournament At Paltz Alleys

The 12th annual city tournament of the Kingston Women's Bowling Association will take place at the New Paltz Bowling Alleys, Helene H. Mollenhauer, secretary, today announced.

Events have been scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 31; Sunday, Feb. 1; Saturday, Feb. 7 and Sunday, Feb. 8.

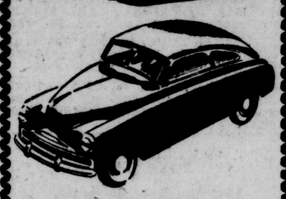

With bids also received from Ferraro's Bowlodrome and the Chalet lanes in Rosendale, the New Paltz establishment was awarded the tournament by a large majority vote at the first open meeting Sunday afternoon.

Tournament committees and further details regarding the tournament will be announced.

Wins Arlington Feature

Bud Hitsman of Verbank, driving his 101 sportsman stock car, won the Arlington Speedway 50-lap sweepstakes feature event Sunday afternoon. Twenty-three cars from a field of 54 qualified into the long distance main event. Next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., Arlington Speedway again will present a program of stock car racing, plus an added attraction by stunt man Joe Whittey, doing the Flaming Slide of Death, from the rear of a speeding car.

New York rolls out the red carpet for Hiram Walker's TEN HIGH!

The bourbon that became America's best-selling whiskey

Introduced in 1934, Ten High became by 1938 America's favorite whiskey according to records of independent package stores. That's where men buy by brand. When war work monopolized the great Hiram Walker distillery, no Ten High was made. The last matured for market in 1944. But after the war, Ten High was back on the stills. Now it's here again, fully matured, to double your enjoyment!

The bourbon that doubles your enjoyment for 2 good reasons...

1. Slow Barm makes it richer. Barm is the old-time name for whiskey mash. Hiram Walker slows the barm — keeps it cool — for the flavors that are uniformly good. Result: you enjoy in every drop of Ten High a robust, hearty richness.

2. High-Light Distilling makes it smoother. Hiram Walker specializes in light-bodied whiskeys. Ten High is distilled at the right proof to prevent rough edges. Result: you enjoy rare lightness that gives each sip of Ten High a smiling smoothness.

SMALL SACKS OR KERNELS (GLANDS) THAT ARE FOUND ON THE INSIDE OF THE FRONT AND HIND LEGS AND SOMETIMES ELSEWHERE (AS ON A WOODCHUCK'S BACK) SHOULD BE REMOVED WHEN ANIMAL IS SKINNED. THE WHITE TO BROWNISH OBLONG GLANDS ARE LOCATED JUST UNDER THE SKIN, USUALLY IN THE FAT WHICH SHOULD ALWAYS BE REMOVED.

SOAK GAMEY MEAT IN SALT WATER OVERNIGHT. THEN, RECOVER MEAT IN COLD WATER. ADD A LEVEL TABLESPOON OF BLACK PEPPER AND ONE OF BAKING SODA. SLOWLY BRING TO A BOIL. POUR OFF LIQUID. RINSE MEAT, THEN REPEAT AGAIN. RECOVER WITH COLD WATER, PARBOIL BEFORE FRYING OR ROASTING. OR, SEASON AND STEW UNTIL TENDER.

KWBA Will Hold City Tournament At Paltz Alleys

The 12th annual city tournament of the Kingston Women's Bowling Association will take place at the New Paltz Bowling Alleys, Helene H. Mollenhauer, secretary, today announced.

Events have been scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 31; Sunday, Feb. 1; Saturday, Feb. 7 and Sunday, Feb. 8.

With bids also received from Ferraro's Bowlodrome and the Chalet lanes in Rosendale, the New Paltz establishment was awarded the tournament by a large majority vote at the first open meeting Sunday afternoon.

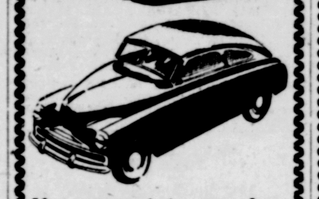

Tournament committees and further details regarding the tournament will be announced.

Wins Arlington Feature

Bud Hitsman of Verbank, driving his 101 sportsman stock car, won the Arlington Speedway 50-lap sweepstakes feature event Sunday afternoon. Twenty-three cars from a field of 54 qualified into the long distance main event. Next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., Arlington Speedway again will present a program of stock car racing, plus an added attraction by stunt man Joe Whittey, doing the Flaming Slide of Death, from the rear of a speeding car.

New York rolls out the red carpet for Hiram Walker's TEN HIGH!

The bourbon that became America's best-selling whiskey

Introduced in 1934, Ten High became by 1938 America's favorite whiskey according to records of independent package stores. That's where men buy by brand. When war work monopolized the great Hiram Walker distillery, no Ten High was made. The last matured for market in 1944. But after the war, Ten High was back on the stills. Now it's here again, fully matured, to double your enjoyment!

The bourbon that doubles your enjoyment for 2 good reasons...

1. Slow Barm makes it richer. Barm is the old-time name for whiskey mash. Hiram Walker slows the barm — keeps it cool — for the flavors that are uniformly good. Result: you enjoy in every drop of Ten High a robust, hearty richness.

2. High-Light Distilling makes it smoother. Hiram Walker specializes in light-bodied whiskeys. Ten High is distilled at the right proof to prevent rough edges. Result: you enjoy rare lightness that gives each sip of Ten High a smiling smoothness.

ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 16, 1952, AUTHORIZING STREET IMPROVEMENTS IN THE CITY, APPROPRIATING $40,000 THEREFOR, INCLUDING THE APPROPRIATION OF $6,000 AS THE DOWN PAYMENT, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $34,000 SERIAL BONDS OF THE CITY TO FINANCE THE REMAINDER OF THE APPROPRIATION.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN ADJOURNED REGULAR SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) AS FOLLOWS.

Section 1. Pursuant to recommendations of the Board of Public Works, the construction, reconstruction or resurfacing of roads, avenues or streets in the City of Kingston, N. Y., including in some instances sidewalks, curbs, gutters, drainage and other necessary incidental improvements, is hereby authorized, and the amount of $40,000 is hereby appropriated therefor, including the appropriation of $6,000 as the down payment. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $34,000 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the City to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $34,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The kind of specific object or purpose within the class of objects or purposes described in Section 1 of this ordinance is hereby specified to be the construction, reconstruction or resurfacing of roads, avenues or streets, the pavements to be of more durable construction than sand and gravel, water bound macadam or penetration process, and, in consequence, the period of probable usefulness of the class of objects for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of $11.00 a. 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least fourteen per centum (14%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $6,000 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1952 under the caption "Down Payment—Capital Improvements" and the said sum of $6,000 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4 Each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation thereof and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds and notes to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5 Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 §56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any bond anticipation notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any bond anticipation notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of this ordinance are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News & Kingston Leader" (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk, and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk the 17th day of September, 1952.

Stores Will Show Price Posters Oct. 6

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Starting Oct. 6, retail grocery stores in New York city and seven nearby counties will display Office of Price Stabilization posters showing specific dollars-and cents ceiling prices for approximately 400 stample food items.

Counties in the community pricing area outside New York city are Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Rockland, Orange, Putnam and Dutchess.

OPS Regional Director James G. Lyons, who announced the program yesterday, said about 2,800 groceries in the area would be affected.

He said posting of uniform ceiling prices, adapted to each area, is part of the localized community food pricing program being established throughout the country by the OPS beginning with key marketing areas surrounding 54 OPS offices.

"Under the community food pricing program," he explained, "uniform ceiling prices for many market basket foods are worked out for local marketing areas on the basis of local wholesale and distribution costs. The OPS field offices consult with all levels of the trade and with consumer advisory committees. * * * *"

After that, he stated, uniform ceilings are established for normal trading areas, the charts are printed by the government, and are delivered to grocery stores for posting.

Lyons said this system will save grocers the work of calculating ceilings on many items—as they have been required to do in the past by an allowable markup formula.

Repairs His Helmet For 3,500-Foot Dive

His steel diving bell, called the benthoscope, developed minor leaks when it was lowered only 100 feet yesterday near Santa Catalina Island off the southern California coast.

The 14-inch window, made of quartz an inch and a quarter thick and fastened with 12 bolts, then had to be re-seated.

Barton said it will be lowered today, empty, by a steel cable and if the leaks have been fixed he will then descend in it to 3,500 feet. Later in the week he hopes to set a new record of one mile under the surface in water 7,000 feet deep off San Clemente Island.

In 1949 Barton set a record of 4,500 feet.

Actually, Barton's principal purpose on the current expedition is photography of undersea creatures at great depths, rather than the setting of a new diving record.

High Priced Art

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Lord Bruce, eldest son of the Earl of Elgin, said today that New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art paid his father 74,000 pounds ($207,200) for the Velasquez Equestrain portrait now on exhibit at the museum. The portrait by the great Spanish court painter had been in Lord Elgin's family since it was acquired by the seventh earl in 1806. In announcing its purchase, the Metropolitan did not disclose the price paid. "The picture was bought in July of this year by the curator of the museum when he visited us and examined the painting," Lord Bruce said.

State Makes Plans To Collect Blood For Emergency

New York state is making plans to collect a record amount of fresh blood, if the need arises, it has been revealed by the New York State Civil Defense Commission.

Kingston, like other cities in the state, will be assigned a part in the emergency collection. Dr. Herbert I. Derman, director of the city laboratory, and Lionel Harrington, senior instructor, have already completed a two-day course at White Plains, to prepare them to conduct a training program in this county at a later date.

Goal 40,000 Pints

State Civil Defense authorities aim to be able to collect 40,000 pints of whole blood from as many donors within a six hour period, when preparations are completed. The collection would be ordered in event of an A-bomb attack in this state.

Lt. Gen. Huebner, state CD director, has estimated that an atom bombing of one of the state's larger cities would result within minutes in 80,000 dead and another 80,000 wounded. Of the latter, he said, "a large majority would require immediately fresh blood for their survival." Other thousands would need whole blood transfusions within a day or a few days, he said.

Lt. Gen. Huebner emphasized that the requirements would be apart from the need for blood substitutes and plasma which, unlike whole blood, can be stockpiled.

A total of nearly 20,000 volunteer workers will be trained in assembly-line blood collecting, packaging and shipping.

Costly Mistake

Mexico City, Sept. 24 (AP)—A man who confused a dog's name with an insult was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in prison for homicide. The Supreme Court confirmed the sentence against Guadalupe Chavez for the fatal shooting of Antonio Castro. Chavez' appeal said he shot when he heard Castro shouting "Fierabras" (tough guy). He said he thought Castro was insulting him and it was only after the shooting he learned the man was calling his dog, named Fierabras.

Repairs His Helmet For 3,500-Foot Dive

Aboard the yacht Monsoon, Sept. 24 (AP)—A dive to 3,000 feet, providing further tests are successful, is planned today by Otis Barton, undersea explorer.

His steel diving bell, called the benthoscope, developed minor leaks when it was lowered only 100 feet yesterday near Santa Catalina Island off the southern California coast.

The 14-inch window, made of quartz an inch and a quarter thick and fastened with 12 bolts, then had to be re-seated.

Barton said it will be lowered today,empty, by a steel cable and if the leaks have been fixed he will then descend in it to 3,500 feet. Later in the week he hopes to set a new record of one mile under the surface in water 7,000 feet deep off San Clemente Island.

In 1949 Barton set a record of 4,500 feet.

Actually, Barton's principal purpose on the current expedition is photography of undersea creatures at great depths, rather than the setting of a new diving record.

High Priced Art

London, Sept. 24 (AP)—Lord Bruce, eldest son of the Earl of Elgin, said today that New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art paid his father 74,000 pounds ($207,200) for the Velasquez Equestrain portrait now on exhibit at the museum. The portrait by the great Spanish court painter had been in Lord Elgin's family since it was acquired by the seventh earl in 1806. In announcing its purchase, the Metropolitan did not discolse the price paid. "The picture was bought in July of this year by the curator of the museum when he visited us and examined the painting," Lord Bruce said.

State Makes Plans To Collect Blood For Emergency

New York state is making plans to collect a record amount of fresh blood, if the need arises, it has been revealed by the New York State Civil Defense Commission.

Kingston, like other cities in the state, will be assigned a part in the emergency collection. Dr. Herbert I. Derman, director of the city laboratory, and Lionel Harrington, senior instructor, have already completed a two-day course at White Plains, to prepare them to conduct a training program in this county at a later date.

Goal 40,000 Pints

State Civil Defense authorities aim to be able to collect 40,000 pints of whole blood from as many donors within a six hour period, when preparations are completed. The collection would be ordered in event of an A-bomb attack in this state.

Lt. Gen. Huebner, state CD director, has estimated that an atom bombing of one of the state's larger cities would result within minutes in 80,000 dead and another 80,000 wounded. Of the latter, he said, "a large majority would require immediately fresh blood for their survival." Other thousands would need whole blood transfusions within a day or a few days, he said.

Lt. Gen. Huebner emphasized that the requirements would be apart from the need for blood substitutes and plasma which, unlike whole blood, can be stockpiled.

A total of nearly 20,000 volunteer workers will be trained in assembly-line blood collecting, packaging and shipping.

Costly Mistake

Mexico City, Sept. 24 (AP)—A man who confused a dog's name with an insult was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in prison for homicide. The Supreme Court confirmed the sentence against Guadalupe Chavez for the fatal shooting of Antonio Castro. Chavez' appeal said he shot when he heard Castro shouting "Fierabras" (tough guy). He said he thought Castro was insulting him and it was only after the shooting he learned the man was calling his dog, named Fierabras.

Actress Says . . .

ganizations without knowing what they were.

"I have been awakened to a realization that I have been irresponsible and slightly—more than slightly—stupid," she said. "When I was solicited I always simply said, "Oh, isn't that too bad. Sure, use my name.'

"The few things that I actually participated in were things that I couldn't possibly have thought were subversive."

At another point the actress said of herself: "It was an irresponsible attitude mostly on an emotion basis for a quick 'yes' for anybody that sounded to me like they were getting the wrong end of something."

Asked when she had changed, Miss Holliday replied:

"When I began to realize the possible imminence of a war, when I began to realize that there were such things as spies and people working against the country. I don't know when it was, but I know that the whole tenor of my thinking changed considerably in the last two years."

Presents Statement

Before ending her testimony, Miss Holliday presented a statement in which she said that she never was a member of the Communist party, that she was opposed to communism and that she was wholeheartedly devoted to democracy.

Levenson, a former Brooklyn high school teacher who has won a reputation on television as a humorist, told the subcommittee he had asked to appear "to clear up certain misconceptions which might help you and help me."

Testifying last March 20, Levenson brought with him a to-whom-it-may-concern letter from Harvey Matsusow, a former Communist who turned informer for the FBI and who now is employed by the Ohio Un-American Commission.

Levenson said he had read an account of testimony by Matusow before the House Un-American Activities Committee last February implying that Levenson had "knowingly accepted bookings from a Communist-dominated organization."

Identifies Division

Levenson testified the organization he was referring to was People's Artists. Subcommittee counsel previously had identified People's Artists, Inc., as the artist's division of People's Songs, Inc.

After learning of Matusow's testimony, Levenson said, he went to Matusow to "clarify to him the meaning of my name in this listing with People's Artists." Matusow then gave him the letter he presenated to the Senate group, Levenson said.

Matusow wrote that "having been an employe of People's Artists in 1948 and actively engaged in Communist party activities through that organization, I can attest to the fact that no evidence of Communist party membership nor activities in Communist party fronts have been undertaken by Mr. Levenson during my personal participation in these affairs."

Matusow also wrote that it is just as important "to clear somebody's name of communism as it is to put the label where it belongs, and in Mr. Levenson's case all efforts should be made to clear him."

Came From Russia

Levenson said he was willing to stake his life on American democracy. Brought to this country from his native Russia when only about a year old, Levenson told the Senate investigators:

"I am an extremely grateful American citizen. I have benefited from this country more than my father ever dreamed.

Ives, in his voluntary appearance before the subcommittee, said he had participated in the activities of a number of Communist-front organizations without knowing their true nature.

The ballard singer testified "the only affiliation that I have had with communism was back in the spring of 1944." At that time, he said, he attended some open discussion meetings of the Communist Political Association.

Went to Find Out

Iyes said he did not go to these meetings as a Communist but to find out about communism. After going to a few of these meetings, he said, he "rejected this idea, and it has never come back into my mind, the possibility of being a Communist, because I am against that philosophy."

Mary Mossman Has Health Post

Miss Mary Mossman of Gardiner, Mass., has been named health education assistant by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association. She will assume her duties here on Oct. 1, succeeding John T. Connolly, who resigned Sept. 15 to accept a position with the Rheumatism and Arthritis Foundation in New York city.

A graduate of Bryn Mawr College, Miss Mossman received her master's degree in health education at Yale University and has been employed as assistant health educator by the New Haven Health Department. In addition to her general health education experience, she has been active in planning with voluntary agencies.

While at Yale, Miss Mossman was employed at the Yale University Art Gallery, and during the summers was employed as swimming and sailing instructor at various camps.

Two Cars Are Damaged In Stop Sign Crash

A 1952 station wagon and a 1951 sedan received minor damages at 4:45 p. m. yesterday when they were in collision on Mohonk road about one mile west of New Paltz, Highland police said today.

The station wagon, driven by Alice Emma Crans, 34, of 46 Church street, New Paltz, and the sedan, driven by Robert E. Pray, 39, RFD 2, Poughkeepsie, were both travelling east on Mohonk road when they stopped for a stop sign at the Libertyville road intersection, police reported. The station wagon then started up but, unknow to the driver of the sedan who was watching the Libertyville road, it stopped again and the sedan struck it from behind, according to police.

Prefers Jail to Paying His British Wife Money

Cincinnati, Sept. 24 (AP)—Le Cameron Trent, 61, of nearby Loveland, was in jail today because he failed to keep up alimony payments to the British bride he wooed and won by mail.

And, if Trent keeps his word, it may be a long stay. "I'll stay in jail until it rots," he shouted yesterday as he was led to jail.

Trent married Olga Julia Trent, a native of Hull, England, in June, 1941, after a courtship by mail. They separated last January when she tried to end her life by shooting. Trent said he couldn't make the $30 weekly payments because "I have been taken for a sucker and I am broke."

To Hold Hearing On Zoning Change

Public hearing will be held in the Common Council chamber tomorrow at 8:30 p. m., on applications for zoning changes on two properties in the Albany and Madison avenue areas to be used as the site of a supermarket.

The application for a business zone designation on a property along Madison avenue is by Martin & Moran, Inc., and that for the tract along Albany avenue is by Harold Halwick and John W. Evans.

Abram D. Relyea, chairman of the council's laws and rules committee, will conduct the hearings.

It is expected that the Grand Union Co., will build a market on the properties.

Station Plans Approved

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Members of the City Board of Standards and Appeals yesterday approved detailed plans for a gasoline service station at Farmers Boulevard and 117th Road in St. Albans, Queens, in spite of protests voiced at a board meeting.

Presents Statement

Before ending her testimony, Miss Holliday presented a statement in which she said that she never was a member of the Communist party, that she was opposed to communism and that she was wholeheartedly devoted to democracy.

Levenson, a former Brooklyn high school teacher who has won a reputation on television as a humorist, told the subcommittee he had asked to appear "to clear up certain misconceptions which might help you and help me."

Testifying last March 20, Levenson brought with him a to-whom-it-may-concern letter from Harvey Matsusow, a former Communist who turned informer for the FBI and who now is employed by the Ohio Un-American Commission.

Levenson said he had read an account of testimony by Matusow before the House Un-American Activities Committee last February implying that Levenson had "knowingly accepted bookings from a Communist-dominated organization."

Identifies Division

Levenson testified the organization he was referring to was People's Artists. Subcommittee counsel previously had identified People's Artists, Inc., as the artist's division of People's Songs, Inc.

After learning of Matusow's testimony, Levenson said, he went to Matusow to "clarify to him the meaning of my name in this listing with People's Artists." Matusow then gave him the letter he presented to the Senate group, Levenson said.

Matusow wrote that "having been an employe of People's Artists in 1948 and actively engaged in Communist party activities through that organization, I can attest to the fact that no evidence of Communist party membership nor activities in Communist party fronts have been undertaken by Mr. Levenson during my personal participation in these affairs."

Matusow also wrote that it is just as important "to clear somebody's name of communism as it is to put the label where it belongs, and in Mr. Levenson's case all efforts should be made to clear him."

Came From Russia

Levenson said he was willing to stake his life on American democracy. Brought to this country from his native Russia when only about a year old, Levenson told the Senate investigators:

"I am an extremely grateful American citizen. I have benefited from this country more than my father ever dreamed.

Ives, in his voluntary appearance before the subcommittee, said he had participated in the activities of a number of Communist-front organizations without knowing their true nature.

The ballard singer testified "the only affiliation that I have had with communism was back in the spring of 1944." At that time, he said, he attended some open discussion meetings of the Communist Political Association.

Went to Find Out

Iyes said he did not go to these meetings as a Communist but to find out about communism. After going to a few of these meetings, he said, he "rejected this idea, and it has never come back into my mind, the possibility of being a Communist, because I am against that philosophy."

Mary Mossman Has Health Post

Miss Mary Mossman of Gardiner, Mass., has been named health education assistant by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association. She will assume her duties here on Oct. 1, succeeding John T. Connolly, who resigned Sept. 15 to accept a position with the Rheumatism and Arthritis Foundation in New York city.

A graduate of Bryn Mawr College, Miss Mossman received her master's degree in health education at Yale University and has been employed as assistant health educator by the New Haven Health Department. In addition to her general health education experience, she has been active in planning with voluntary agencies.

While at Yale, Miss Mossman was employed at the Yale University Art Gallery, and during the summers was employed as swimming and sailing instructor at various camps.

Two Cars Are Damaged In Stop Sign Crash

A 1952 station wagon and a 1951 sedan received minor damages at 4:45 p. m. yesterday when they were in collision on Mohonk road about one mile west of New Paltz, Highland police said today.

The station wagon, driven by Alice Emma Crans, 34, of 46 Church street, New Paltz, and the sedan, driven by Robert E. Pray, 39, RFD 2, Poughkeepsie, were both travelling east on Mohonk road when they stopped for a stop sign at the Libertyville road intersection, police reported. The station wagon then started up but, unknow to the driver of the sedan who was watching the Libertyville road, it stopped again and the sedan struck it from behind, according to police.

The postmaster here is a Democrat, of course. and he upset the Republicans no end a few days ago. He started building an addition to his house. The Eisenhower Club called a hasty meeting and resolved that if the postmaster was that certain of his job. it was high time the General started using strong language.

Prefers Jail to Paying His British Wife Money

Cincinnati, Sept. 24 (AP)—Le Cameron Trent, 61, of nearby Loveland, was in jail today because he failed to keep up alimony payments to the British bride he wooed and won by mail.

And, if Trent keeps his word, it may be a long stay. "I'll stay in jail until it rots," he shouted yesterday as he was led to jail.

Trent married Olga Julia Trent, a native of Hull, England, in June, 1941, after a courtship by mail. They separated last January when she tried to end her life by shooting. Trent said he couldn't make the $30 weekly payments because "I have been taken for a sucker and I am broke."

To Hold Hearing On Zoning Change

Public hearing will be held in the Common Council chamber tomorrow at 8:30 p. m., on applications for zoning changes on two properties in the Albany and Madison avenue areas to be used as the site of a supermarket.

The application for a business zone designation on a property along Madison avenue is by Martin & Moran, Inc., and that for the tract along Albany avenue is by Harold Halwick and John W. Evans.

Abram D. Relyea, chairman of the council's laws and rules committee, will conduct the hearings.

It is expected that the Grand Union Co., will build a market on the properties.

Station Plans Approved

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Members of the City Board of Standards and Appeals yesterday approved detailed plans for a gasoline service station at Farmers Boulevard and 117th Road in St. Albans, Queens, in spite of protests voiced at a board meeting.
